FOWLER'S

Empire Sky-Light Daguerrean GALLERY!

ALL PERSONS WISHING TO get a

PERFECT LIKENESS,

will please call at Gallery No. 221½ East Water street, Empire Block, where they can get a Likeness with Case for any reasonable price.

I have on hand a large assortment of Cases, which I will sell at New York prices.

Pictures inserted in Rings or Lockets, and warranted to please.

Mr. F. keeps constantly on hand DAGUERREOTYPE MATERIALS, comprising all varieties of Plain and Fancy Cases, Gold Lockets, &c., which the New York market affords, and at low rates

Daguerreotypists are invited to call and examine his stock before purchasing elsewhere.

jan11 ELBERT W. FOWLER, Artist.

TO THE PUBLIC.

MR. J. P. SARGEANT Would respectfully inform the citizens of Milwaukee and vicinity that he has opened a NEW DAGUERREAN GALLERY, on Walker's Point, in Walker's Block, and is now ready to accommodate all persons with a true Daguerreotype Miniature of the best and most improved styles of the art. Daguerreotypes taken in clear or cloudy weather, in the best style, for One Dollar and upwards, and warranted not to fade.

MR. SARGEANT has been in this City for the past eight weeks, in E. W. Fowler's Gallery, and has given perfect satisfaction to all customers, and hopes that he will be patronized in his New Gallery.

☞ Please call and examine his work.

MUSIC!

MR. J. P. SARGEANT would respectfully inform his friends and the public, in general, that he has a good COTILLION BAND, and is now ready to furnish Music in large or small bands, for Cotillion Parties or Balls, at the shortest notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

He has also a Large Hall in Walker's Block, for Dancing, where he will give instructions to Classes or private persons, in the following Dances: Quadrilles, Contra Dances, Spanish Dances, Reels, Polka Waltz and Polka Reel, Hop Waltz, German Waltz, Waltzes, in two, three, four, five and six steps.

Der Corsar

(THE CORSAIR,)

A Weekly Paper, established to forward political reforms, edited by BERNHARD DOMSCHKE, with Mr. L. WITTIG, as a regular contributor.

"Der Corsar" will adhere to the principles set down in the Madison Platform, of the 13th July, '54, and be of course, opposed to those parties who prefer stagnancy to reform, and slavery to freedom. And those who take a warm interest in the contest against the reactionary parties and the demagogues, that lead and control them, and in the realization of genuine Republican principles, are invited to subscribe to "Der Corsar."

"Der Corsar" will be published every Saturday, at the price of $2,00 per year, payment in advance every six months. In as much as "Der Corsar" will be widely circulated within the State of Wisconsin as well as abroad, it is well adapted to advertisements, which will be inserted at the usual rates.

INSURANCE OFFICES

Highly Important to Farmers.

The only Exclusive Farmers' Insurance Company in the West.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

Located at Madison, Wisconsin.

THIS COMPANY CONTINUES TO TAKE RISKS upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible Companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses, only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops, and such like property. In this Company all such property is rejected POSITIVELY BY LEAVING THEM ALONE.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of Insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the Company.

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Office in Martin's Block, Milwaukee.

Capital over $165,000—in Cash and Premium Notes.

THIS Company offers unrivalled facilities for the Insurance of Buildings and Personal Property against fire. The advantages offered are security beyond the reach of circumstances, the real estate insured is by law bound for the assessment made to cover losses beyond the power of evasion. Every person insured is a member of the Company, and entitled to one vote. The cost of insurance does not exceed one-third as much as in Stock Companies, saying nothing of the increased security and the incomparable care with which losses are settled. During the last five years, this Company have issued [illegible] Policies, and made but three assessments at a cost to the property insured, not exceeding two mills on the dollar. Its business is principally confined to this State.

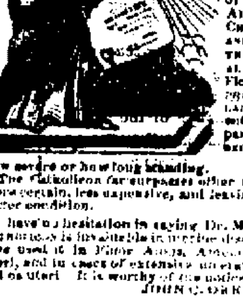
DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S

CELEBRATED CATHOLICON,

For the Relief and Cure of Suffering Females.



IT STANDS PRE-eminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended usually called

Female Complaints.

Of these are Prolapsus Uteri, or Falling of the Womb; Fluor Albus, or Whites;—Chronic Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb; Incidental Hemorrhage, or Flooding; Painful, Suppressed and Irregular Menstruation, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (cancer excepted,) no matter how severe or how long standing.

The Catholicon far surpasses other remedies, in being more certain, less expensive, and leaving the system in a better condition.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Marchisi's Uterine Catholicon is invaluable in uterine disease generally. I have used it in Fluor Albus, Amenorrhoea, Prolapsus Uteri, and in cases of extensive ulceration of the vagina and os uteri. It is worthy of the notice of the Faculty.

JOHN C. ORRICK, M. D.,
Baltimore, Md.

The Catholicon is doing good service here. All the patients that have tried the medicine have been benefited but one—and that one nothing will help.

Truly Yours,

WM. LAIRD HAZLETT, M. D.,

July 6th, 1854. New Philadelphia, Ohio.

I must say, from my own experience and personal observations in my practice, it has proved to be the best and safest remedy for the difficulties for which it is recommended, viz: that of female weakness, such as Prolapsus Uteri, Fluor Albus, and all irregular and painful menstruation, and diseases of irritation of the female organs.

D. Y. FOOTE, M. D.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

Those needing such a remedy should inquire into the merits of this medicine, and by calling at the store of the undersigned can obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use, together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

German Reform Paper.

FROM THE SEVENTH OF OCTOBER, 1854, WILL be published at Milwaukee

Der Corsar

(THE CORSAIR,)

A Weekly Paper, established to forward political reforms, edited by BERNHARD DOMSCHKE, with Mr. L. WITTIG, as a regular contributor.

"Der Corsar" will adhere to the principles set down in the Madison Platform, of the 13th July, '54, and be of course, opposed to those parties who prefer stagnancy to reform, and slavery to freedom. And those who take a warm interest in the contest against the reactionary parties and the demagogues, that lead and control them, and in the realization of genuine Republican principles, are invited to subscribe to "Der Corsar."

"Der Corsar" will be published every Saturday, at the price of $2,50 per year, payment in advance every six months. In as much as "Der Corsar" will be widely circulated within the State of Wisconsin as well as abroad, it is well adapted to advertisements, which will be inserted at the usual rates.

INSURANCE OFFICES

Highly Important to Farmers.

The only Exclusive Farmers' Insurance Company in the West.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

Located at Madison, Wisconsin.

THIS COMPANY CONTINUES TO TAKE RISKS upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible Companies.

All Losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereof.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses, only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops, and such like property. In this Company all such property is rejected POSITIVELY by taking them alone.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the Company.

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Office in Martin's Block, Milwaukee.

Capital over $185,000—in Cash and Premium Notes.

THIS Company offers unrivalled facilities for the Insurance of Buildings and Personal Property against fire. The advantages offered, are security beyond the reach of circumstances, as the real estate insured is by law bound for the assessment made to cover losses beyond the power of evasion. Every person insured is a member of the Company, and entitled to one vote. The cost of insurance does not exceed one-third as much as in Stock Companies, saying nothing of the increased security and the [illegible] ease with which losses are settled. During the last five years, this Company have issued [illegible] Policies, and made but three assessments at a cost to the property insured, not exceeding two mills on the dollar. Its business is principally confined to this State.

DR. J. B. MARCHISI'S

CELEBRATED CATHOLICON,

For the Relief and Cure of Suffering Females.

IT STANDS PREeminent for its curative powers in all the diseases for which it is recommended, usually called

Female Complaints.

Of these are PROLAPSUS UTERI, or Falling of the Womb; FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites;—CHRONIC INFLAMMATION, AND ULCERATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE, OR Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (cancer excepted,) no matter how severe or how long standing.

The Catholicon far surpasses other remedies, in being more certain, less expensive, and leaving the system in a better condition.

I have no hesitation in saying Dr. Marchisi's UTERINE CATHOLICON is invaluable in uterine diseases generally. I have used it in FLUOR ALBUS, AMENORRHOEA, PROLAPSUS UTERI, and in cases of extensive ulceration of the cervix and os uteri. It is worthy of the notice of the Faculty.

JOHN C. ORRICK, M. D.,
Baltimore, Md.

The Catholicon is doing good service here. All the patients that have tried the medicine have been benefitted but one—and that one nothing will help.

Truly Yours,
WM. LAIRD MAZLETT, M. D.,
July 6th, 1854. New Philadelphia, Ohio.

I must say, from my own experience and personal observations in my practice, it has proved to be the best and safest remedy for the difficulties for which it is recommended, viz: that of female weakness, such as Prolapsus Uteri, Fluor Albus, and all irregular and painful menstruation, and diseases of irritation of the female organs.

D. Y. FOOTE, M. D.,

Those needing such a remedy should inquire into the merits of this medicine, and by calling at the store of the undersigned can obtain a pamphlet (free) containing ample proof, from the most respectable sources, of the beneficial results of its use, together with letters from highly experienced Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and speak from their own observations.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Tuesday Morning, February 6.

Opinions of the Judges of the Supreme Court in the Rescue Trials.

[illegible] this morning, the Opinions of [illegible] and CRAWFORD, Chief Justice [illegible], discharging Messrs. BOOTH and [illegible] imprisonment.

THE GLOVER RESCUE TRIALS.

The Decision of our Supreme Court.

[illegible] of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin [illegible] on Saturday last and briefly re[illegible] yesterday's Sentinel, discharging S. M. [illegible] RYCRAFT, two citizens of this State from the fine and imprisonment to which they had been sentenced by Judge MILLER, after [illegible] in the U. S. District Court of alleged [illegible] of the Fugitive Slave Act, is a matter [illegible] too deep and serious import to be lightly passed [illegible] or dismissed without further remark.—Regarding the decision as fraught with important consequences to the great cause of Constitutional Rights and Human Liberty; as setting up [illegible] against any further invasion of those [illegible] by the creeping and domineering spirit of [illegible] and as conferring immortal honor upon [illegible] which pronounced and the State which [illegible] this righteous judgment, we have thought [illegible] proper occasion to lay before our [illegible] narrative of the cause, the progress and the issue of the GLOVER RESCUE [illegible]

Its [illegible] was the signal for a general [illegible] people and press of the Free [illegible] provisions and its [illegible], and from that day [illegible] has not ceased; nor will it while [illegible] on the American Statute Book. [illegible] was enforced in various quarters [illegible] seldom, however, without [illegible] popular commotion, and some[illegible] of money, attended with the [illegible] blood and the sacrifice of [illegible] those distant and disgraceful [illegible] people of Milwaukee were for several [illegible] interested and indignant lookers on. But [illegible] was at hand when the atrocity of the [illegible] to be brought home to them.

[illegible] March last, a negro, bruised, bleeding [illegible] was brought to this city, in custody [illegible] U. S. Marshal COTTON, and [illegible] County Jail. In spite of the efforts [illegible] to keep their secret, the fact [illegible]. The circumstances, too, at[illegible], came out. As the story [illegible] to mouth, the waves of popular [illegible] rose; and gathering groups [illegible] attested the public interest in [illegible]. It was soon known that brutal [illegible] violence had been used to arrest [illegible] the charge of being a slave, and [illegible] suspected that foul play would be [illegible] to complete what force had begun. [illegible] procured for the imprisoned fugitive [illegible] of Habeas Corpus applied for and [illegible] the Judge of the County Court. [illegible] made return to the writ that the prisoner was not in his custody. A second writ was [illegible] against the U. S. Marshal. [illegible] people assembled by thousands on [illegible] Square; a meeting was organized [illegible] resolutions adopted pledging [illegible] to stand by the writ of Habeas [illegible] and the right of trial by Jury; and committee appointed to wait on the U. S. officers [illegible] whether they intended to obey the sec[illegible] and produce their prisoner. While the [illegible] its height, a delegation, 100 [illegible] Racine—whence the alleged slave [illegible] abducted the previous night—[illegible] ground, adding fuel to the excitement. At this critical juncture, too, came [illegible] that the writ of Habeas Corpus would [illegible], and the suspicion was strength[illegible] was to be carried back into [illegible] had been brought to the Milwaukee [illegible] by force and without warrant of [illegible] was but, by an irresistible im[illegible] without concert, or premeditation, a [illegible] for the Jail, the doors battered [illegible] released, placed in a wagon [illegible] beyond the reach of pursuit, amid [illegible] of sympathizing thous[illegible]

Our own [illegible] authorities were competent to the [illegible] of the Federal Government. [illegible] the initiative. Their first [illegible] the arrest of S. M. BOOTH, [illegible] ringleader in the rescue, by [illegible] Commissioner Smith. An [illegible] allowed, and Mr. Booth was held [illegible] answer the complaint at [illegible] of the U. S. Court. He gave bail [illegible] afterwards was surrendered by his [illegible] that a writ of Habeas Corpus [illegible] be sued out in his behalf, before Judge [illegible] of our State Supreme Court. The writ [illegible] granted argument had upon it, and Mr [illegible] the Judge holding that the [illegible] was insufficient, and the Fugitive [illegible] under which the proceeding was [illegible]. These points were [illegible] able and elaborate opinion, which [illegible] circulated thro' the public press. [illegible] the U. S. Officers took an appeal [illegible] bench of the Supreme Court.—[illegible] the decision; all three Judges [illegible] order of discharge, tho' one [illegible] Crawford dissented as to that [illegible] Judge Smith's opinion which held the [illegible] Slave Act to be unconstitutional.

[illegible] District Court, Judge MILLER presiding, commenced its summer term at [illegible], and the Grand Jury found indictments [illegible] Messrs. BOOTH, RYCRAFT and others, for [illegible] in the rescue of Glover. Upon [illegible] and by order of the Judge, Mr. [illegible] was again arrested. He went to jail and [illegible] once more invoked the interposition [illegible] State Supreme Court. It was denied [illegible] the ground that the jurisdiction of [illegible] had attached, and that comity re[illegible] the State Court should not interfere [illegible] Federal Court had heard the case and [illegible] judgment. Thereupon Mr. Booth [illegible] and stand his trial. The [illegible] District Court came on. Mr. [illegible] to his bed by severe illness and his case went over. John Rycraft, however, was tried under the indictment found against him in July, convicted and sentence deferred. In January, the month just past, the U. S. Court again convened. The Grand Jury, carefully selected, found new bills of indictment against Mr. Booth (the old one having been abandoned) and several others. An attempt was made to quash the indictment on the ground that the Grand Jury was improperly and unfairly drawn. The motion for that purpose was overruled and the prisoner put upon his trial. The feeble hands of the U. S. District Attorney were strengthened for the occasion by the employment of able Counsel, whose zeal was stimulated by a liberal fee, as well as by personal and political antipathy towards the accused. Unusual pains were taken to get a Jury whose opinions of the Fugitive Slave Act would not stand in the way of a conviction. The presiding Judge threw his official weight into the scales against the prisoner. The evidence showed that Mr. BOOTH had been among the most active in getting up the meeting at the Court House Square, had been prominent in all the proceedings then and thereabout, and had been seen in close proximity to the wagon in which Glover was hurried out of the city. There was, however, not a particle of proof to connect him with the actual jail-breaking and jail-delivery, or to show that he was one whit more guilty than any other of the two, or three thousand citizens who "countenanced" and applauded the escape. But the Judge held that enough and more than enough had been proved to convict the defendant, under the law, and of that law, it was for him, and not the Jury to judge. The Jury, fettered by the positive directions of the Court and the majority of them, as we believe, in the conscientious discharge of their supposed duty, found a verdict against the prisoner. Motions were made in arrest of judgment and for a new trial. The form of the indictment was challenged, the sufficiency of the proof disputed, and strong evidence offered that one at least of the jurors had prejudged the case. But all in vain. The Judge overruled the motions and hastened to pronounce sentence.—Mr. Booth was condemned to one month's imprisonment, $1000 fine and costs of prosecution, $451,01. Mr. Rycraft to $200 fine and ten days' imprisonment. Immediately after sentence both prisoners were conducted to our County Jail and there confined.

The news created a great sensation in this city and as it flew along the telegraph wires and sped thro' the mails, produced intense excitement throughout the State. A public meeting, hastily called, but most numerously and respectably attended, gave utterance to the outraged feeling of our city. The county responded promptly and universally. Meantime the counsel of the prisoners once more appealed for help to the Supreme Court of the State, and this time not in vain. A writ of Habeas Corpus was granted, and in obedience to the summons, escorted by two thousand of their fellow citizens, the prisoners, in charge of the Sheriff, proceeded on Monday week to the R. R. Depot, to take the Cars for Madison. On Saturday last they returned FREE MEN! The Supreme Court having discharged them from confinement. Two of the Judges, WHITON and SMITH reiterated the opinions expressed by them in July last, as to the unconstitutionality of the Fugitive Slave Act. The third, CRAWFORD, adhering to his previous view of that question concurred in the order of discharge, on the ground that no offence, under that act, was charged in the indictment. The decision of the Court therefore was UNANIMOUS.

So stands the case to-day. Messrs BOOTH and RYCRAFT, by the fiat of our State Court, have been released from the fine and imprisonment to which the sentence of the Federal Court had subjected them. The Fugitive Slave Act has again been pronounced unconstitutional and void by the Supreme tribunal of the State. The great writ of Liberty has been sustained. The threatening surge of Slavery aggression has been stayed in its course. The birth-right of Wisconsin—youngest and fairest offspring of the immortal Ordinance of 1787—has been nobly vindicated.—Slavery, or involuntary servitude, except for crime, cannot and will not be tolerated within her borders. KIDNAPPING finds no favor with her Courts, no protection in her jails, no countenance among her people. WISCONSIN is and will remain a FREE STATE, and while she claims no right and cherishes no desire to intermeddle in the domestic affairs of her sister sovereignties, she will at least assert and exercise at all times and at every hazard, the power to protect her own citizens, and to maintain and defend, in all their integrity, the writ of Habeas Corpus and right of trial by jury.

☞The Republicans are very great friends to the German citizens of the State—very great indeed. They always said they were. And last week, to prove it, the Republicans in the Assembly refused to concur with the Democrats of the Senate in having a reasonable number of public documents printed in the German language.—[Green Bay Advocate.

The Advocate is mistaken as to the fact, no such resolution having been sent from the Senate to the Assembly. But suppose the Republicans in the Assembly had so refused, they would have done no more than their duty. The Constitution expressly declares that all printing ordered by the Legislature for their use, or for the State, shall be let by contract to the lowest bidder. The proposition which the Advocate so warmly commends, was to order a large amount of printing done, from different newspaper establishments in the State, and at high rates of pay. Even a Democratic Legislature never would have made such an order for public documents printed in English, and why should a different rule prevail as to German?

Steamboat Arrangements.

Will the Milwaukee papers inform us whether the arrangements for a Steamboat connection between Milwaukee and the ports of Manitowoc and Two Rivers, for the coming season, have been finally concluded.

With the certain prospect of an early connection with Chicago, by Rail Road, a daily line of boats to this point, is a matter of the first importance to the business men of Milwaukee as the chance of securing a large porportion of the trade of a country, whose annual exports and imports are counted by millions, will be much increased. On this point you may all speak at once if you choose.—[Manitowoc Tribune.

We copy the above from our Manitowoc contemporary in order to invite our merchants, business men and vessel owners to give the subject their early attention. We presume that there will be two Passenger trains a day on the Lake Shore Rail Road and there should be boats to connect with them, running from this port to Manitowoc and Two Rivers and stopping at all intermediate points. Our city, as the transhipping point from cars to boats is largely interested in the establishment and maintainance of a good line of steamers on the route indicated.

PRETTY KEEN.—In the Assembly, a few days since, a resolution was introduced enquiring into the affairs of the Improvement Company, and it was referred to a committee of which Morgan L. Martin is chairman. This is the way in which the honest "Republicans" do their work.—[Menasha Advocate.

The reference in question was to the committee on State Affairs, as the proper one, but the Chairman, Mr. MARTIN immediately reported back the resolution with the recommendation that it be sent to a Select Committee, and the Assembly so ordered. The Committee consists of Messrs Topliff, Ebbetts, Hull, Judson and Gary. That "is the way in which the honest "Republicans" do their work." Will the Advocate please make a note of it?

Remarks of Judge Miller.

At the opening of the U. S. District Court this morning, Judge Miller alluded at length to the late action of the Supreme Court in taking Booth and Rycraft out of the custody into which they had been committed by the judgement of the District Court. It was an elaborate review of the case, in which he examined the Fugitive Slave law, and declared it to be constitutional, and denied the right of the Supreme Court to interfere either under the laws of the United States or the State. He concluded by stating that, as there was no immediate necessity for providing a temporary place of confinement, he shall refer the whole matter to the government at Washington. We shall publish the views of Judge Miller to morrow.

We copy the above from the News of yesterday, as a quasi official statement of Judge MILLER's position in the Habeas Corpus case.

From Madison.

Abstract of Senate Proceedings, Saturday.

Madison, Feb. 3, '55.

Seventeen Senators appeared in their seats this morning, and the usual amount of business was transacted. The Chief Clerk was authorized to draw $500 towards his salary. Messrs Clement and Bashford were appointed a committee under joint resolution from the assembly to investigate the matter of the loss of the resolution withholding the appropriation from the Agricultural Society—which you will recollect came up missing between the two houses a few days since. A joint Resolution for the appointment of a Committee to visit the State Prison, and look into the charges against Sup't Starks, the situation of the prison, &c. was adopted, and Messrs. Bowen and Bashford appointed on said Committee. A Committee of three to investigate the matter of the Lunatic Asylum Contract &c., was raised on motion of Judge DUNN, Messrs Dunn, Eldridge and Taylor appointed.

A Message was received from Gov. Barstow, transmitting Resolutions of the Legislature of Rhode Island in favor of a repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law, and that portion of Nebraska bill admitting Slavery; also resolutions in favor of bounty lands to the officers, soldiers and sailors of war of 1812; and one in favor of Cheap Ocean Postage which were referred to select committee, consisting of Messrs. Harvey, Loy and Gibson.

Mr. West introduced a bill to authorize the taking Wisconsin bank bills, in payment of taxes which was referred to a select Committee.—Messrs. West, Dewey and Hadley.

Mr. Bashford introduced a bill to amend Charter of Lawrence Institute.

Mr. Bowen to appropriate to P. L. Messin $40; Mr. Pyncheon $64; Austin Kellogg $188; Darwin Clark $67:

The following bills were passed, viz:

To amend charter of Symphony College.

To appropriate to Tibbits and Gordon $1069; John Hollihan $62; Mat. Martin 2d $47; Danl. Arndt $24; Mat. Martin, $102; O. B. Ellis, $82; also a memorial for a daily mail from Madison to Janesville.

The Supreme Court this morning discharged Booth & Rycraft. If I can get a copy of the opinions I will forward to you by Monday morning train.

For the Daily Sentinel

Judge Kent and Gen. Alexander Hamilton vs. Judge Miller.

In the celebrated case of the "People vs. Croswell," who was prosecuted for libel in 1803—for libel on THOMAS JEFFERSON, then President of the U. S.—Gen. Hamilton argued that, "it was not only the province of the jury in all criminal cases, to judge of the intent with which the act was done, but they were also authorized to judge of the law as connected with the fact."

"In England, trial by jury has always been cherished as the great security of the subject against the oppression of government."

"The real danger to our liberties was not from a few provisional troops. The road to tyranny will be opened by making dependent Judges, by packing juries, by silencing leaders and patriots."

"The most dangerous, the most sure, the most fatal of tyrannies was by selecting and sacrificing single individuals under the mask and forms of law, by dependent and partial tribunals. Against such measures we ought to keep a vigilant eye, and take a manly stand. Whenever they arise, we ought to resist, and resist till we have hurled the demagogues and tyrants from their imagined thrones."

"That in criminal cases, the law and the fact, being always blended, the jury for reasons of a political and peculiar nature, for the security of life and liberty, are entrusted with the power of deciding both law and fact."

In the same case, on motion for a new trial, Hon. Justice KENT, says, "at the trial of ALGERNON SYDNEY, Lord Chief Justice Jeffries, in his charge to the jury told them it was the duty of the Court to declare the law to the jury, and the jury were bound to receive their declaration of the law." They did in that case unfortunately receive the law from the court, and convicted the prisoner, but his attainder was after reversed by parliament, and the law as laid down on that trial was denied and reprobated—the violence of the judge and severity of the jury, held up to the reproach and detestation of posterity.

"The case of the seven Bishops is a precedent of more consoling kind; it was an auspicious and memorable instance of the exercise of the right of the jury to determine both the law and the fact."

Gen. HAMILTON also said, "that the jury ought, undoubtedly, to pay every respectful regard to the opinion of the court; but suppose a trial in a capital case, and the jury are satisfied from the arguments of counsel, the law authorities that are read, and their own judgments upon the application of the law to the facts that the law arising in the case, is different from that which the court advances, are they not bound by their duty to their Creator and themselves to pronounce according to their own convictions? To oblige them to follow, in such a case, implicitly the direction of the court, is to make them commit perjury and homicide under the forms of law. Their error is fatal and cannot be corrected. The victim is sacrificed, he is executed—he perishes without redress: Was he a juror, in such a case, he would endure the rack rather than surrender his own convictions on the altar of power,—rather than obey the judicial mandate."

MESSRS. EDITORS:—If you choose, please publish the forgoing when you can conveniently find room.

The opinion of such men as Gen. HAMILTON and Judge KENT, must have its influence with all right minded men. I have not quoted Judge MILLER for the reason it would fill too much space and it seems to be generally conceded that his charge was a one-sided affair. I would not do him injustice, but my convictions of the "Fugitive Slave Law" are so antagonistic to his, that I feel it a duty, that every lover of freedom should contribute something to the cause of freedom.—Had I ever seen a single expression in his charges, adverse to the existence of that abomination, I should have more charity for his opinions. But if I am not mistaken he approves the law. If he disapproves, but feels it his duty to carry out its odious provisions, I would respect his decisions, while I might regret his views of duty. I fear he may be influenced by an apprehension of the loss of executive favor. If he dislikes the law, he ought to resign his office, rather than be the instrument of enforcing it. That it does violence to the plain declaration of the Constitution of the Federal Union is certain. That it violates the "DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE"—one principle of which is, that "all men are born free and equal, and endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, as LIFE, LIBERTY and the pursuit of happiness," is certain. Resistance is justifiable when laws are violent and oppressive, else was our own Revolution an unjustifiable resistance to the arm of power.

JURIS CONSULTUS.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Courier.

From Washington.

Washington, Jan. 26.

The Supreme Court is proceeding slowly through its heavy calendar. Two-thirds of the term have expired, and the middle of the docket has but just been reached. The important case of ABLEMAN vs. BOOTH, arising out of the forcible rescue of an alleged fugitive from service in Wisconsin last summer, and involving the constitutionality of the fugitive act, and the limits of State and Federal jurisdiction, will probably go over among others. Another case is one in which the construction of the old Spanish law of Indian titles will be tried. The case comes from California, and covers the title to great tracts of land there. There are two causes in which the heirs of General LAFAYETTE are plaintiffs, and the object of which is to establish their claim to extensive tracts in Louisiana. The delay in rendering the decision upon the final motion in the great case of the Wheeling Bridge, indicates a difference of opinion among the judges on the points submitted.—[N. Y. Courier & Enquirer, Jan. 29.

MONETARY.—The bill-holders of our suspended Banks may be happy to learn that the last quotations of State Bonds sold in New York city was ninety seven cents and prospects of raising. The Banks have also three per cent interest additional with the Auditor which makes the bills at present at par.—[Chicago Democrat.

Meeting of the Citizens of the Town of Oakland, held at the School House at Oakland Centre.

OAKLAND, Jan. 30th, 1855.

Meeting called to order, and on motion GIRARD CRANE chosen Chairman, unanimously and GEO. C. SMITH, Secretary.

By request of chairman, Geo C Smith presented the following resolutions, which were ably discussed by Doct. Bryant of Lake Mills when Geo. C. Smith and Mr. Ellis, were called out to discuss the resolutions farther. When on motion, the resolutions were unanimously adopted, as reported.

Whereas, S. M. Booth and John Rycraft are now incarcerated in the County Jail of Milwaukee County, for no crime, except you call an act of Humanity a crime, and whereas, they are both so in jail, in consequence of the partial proceedings of Judge Miller, in violation of both justice, law, and evidence. Therefore

Resolved, That we, the citizens of the town of Oakland, agree and bind ourselves to sustain the said Booth and Rycraft, both by our voice and purse to the full extent of our ability, and we hereby tender them our united and heartfelt sympathy for their martyrdom in the cause of Human Liberty.

Resolved, That we cannot look on the course of Judge Miller with the "least degree of allowance," and that we regard him as a disgrace to the name of Judge, a Tyrant when clothed with a little Brief Authority, an old Granny and a miserable Doughface.

Resolved, That we will continue the war on the Fugitive Slave Law, and bind ourselves to fight on until the heinous, disgraceful, oppressive and infernal enactment shall be expelled from our Statute book.

Resolved, That we are opposed to packed juries, and, of course to officers who pack them, and our faith in the 'Higher Law,' is so full that if our fellow citizens are imprisoned by the verdict of such packed juries we shall feel justified in using our Spiritual rappers to release them.

Resolved, That if true (which was not proved,) that they committed the acts with which they are charged, we believe with some of the jury on Booth's trial, that "he (Booth) performed a most noble, benevolent and humane act," and believing thus we will act our belief, in endeavoring to shield him from harm for doing a "noble, benevolent and humane act."

Resolved, That these resolutions and the proceedings of this meeting be sent to said Booth and R. King for publication, and said Booth be requested to send a copy of his paper containing them to Judge Miller. Adopted

Mr. Bryant presented additional resolutions, as follows, which were also unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That since the laws of our land have become so horribly corrupt as to allow citizens to suffer severe fine and imprisonment, merely for obeying the promptings of the impulses of our better nature, and the laws of God, that it is high time for the strong arm of the people to be aroused in the defence of liberty and the God given rights of our humanity. Adopted.

Resolved, That the imprisonment of these, our fellow citizens, Booth and Rycraft is only indicative of the liability we are all under, of having our liberty taken from us, and our most sacred rights being invaded, and that we should not only assist them in regaining their liberty, but also be prepared to resist, even at the expense of life the encroachment of "this sum of all Villanies." Adopted

Resolved, That in the recent mock trial of Mr. Booth, there was no evidence offered which proved him guilty of violating even the Fugitive Slave Law, and that his sentence and imprisonment are the result of a malicious prejudice by an unprincipled Judge, whose high ambition is to be a tool for doing the dirty work of Slavery. Adopted

Resolved, That on the 22d of February, the day on which Mr Booth's imprisonment expires, and also the birthday of our immortal Washington, that there be a universal gathering of our citizens in the City of Milwaukee, to welcome Mr. Booth with cheering and congratulation, as the exponent of liberty, and the inalienable right of men. Adopted

On motion a Committee of six, consisting of E. G. Snell, Geo. C. Smith, B. P. Pixley, E. F. Hart, S. Levit, and Charles Goodrich were appointed by the Chair, to solicit funds for the release of S. M. Booth and John Rycraft from imprisonment, and to defend them from the penalties of a corrupt Judicial tribunal, and to solicit subscription to the Free Democrat published by S. M. Booth.

On motion meeting adjourned "sine die."

Temperance Meetings at Waukesha

A meeting having been called by the friends of Temperance, a few met at the Congregational Church, in Waukesha village, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 24th. The meeting was opened with prayer, by the Rev. MEAD HOLMES, who was subsequently appointed President, and THOS. FAULKNER, Secretary. Some remarks were made by those who had circulated petitions, and others.

A committee of three, viz., Dr. CASTLE, D. R. BACON, and D. JOHNSON, was appointed to prepare an address to the people of Waukesha County, on the subject of the Maine Law, to be published in our county papers and in the Sentinel, and Free Democrat, of Milwaukee;—and to confer with the friends of Temperance in the different towns.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet at the Congregational Church next Sabbath evening, to hear a lecture from Dr. CASTLE.

SABBATH EVENING, Jan. 28th

A meeting was held according to adjournment, a large number being present. Dr. CASTLE delivered an interesting lecture.

The report of the committee, was then called for, and the following address, written by Rev MEAD HOLMES, was read and adopted.

J. FAULKNER, Sec'y

THE MAINE LAW.

Fellow-Citizens of Waukesha County:

Allow us to address you, briefly on the importance of united and earnest effort, to secure the passage of a Prohibitory Liquor Law, at the present session of the Legislature. The sad developements of the past year, more fully than ever, demonstrate the necessity of such a measure. The License system, whether License is granted or withheld, is of small account. In Waukesha, License is withheld, but intoxicating liquors are sold openly in fourteen places. More than when License was granted. Intemperance in our midst, and with few exceptions, throughout our State, has reached an appalling height. And what is the remedy? Those now engaged in the Rum Traffic, are not to be reached by ordinary means. We must have the Maine Law with all its pains and penalties. Regulating the evils of Rum selling in community, is like regulating the evils of fire in gun powder. Experience shows that the only safe regulation is annihilation. The happy working of the proposed law in several States is beyond dispute. In Massachusetts, although at first, the Rum Capitalists pledged $500,000 to defeat it, now every department of government is in its favor even Boston is yielding to the overwhelming evidence of its necessity and value. In Connecticut, its bitterest opposers, are becoming its warmest advocates. Says Governor DUTTON, "it has proved more efficient than its most sanguine friends anticipated—streets that before were constantly disturbed by drunken brawls, are now as quiet as any others." In New York, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Legislature, are all committed to a Prohibitory Law. The law by its actual operation, so commends itself to the better judgment of enlightened, candid men, that not only in New England, but in all parts of our land, it is hailed as a Star of hope.—Pennsylvania and New Jersey, are bound to have the Law, and even in Texas almost the entire Press, is vindicating its claims. But surely, no State needs it more than Wisconsin. We need it, to save our property—to restore plenty and happiness to many dwellings now the abodes of want and misery,—to rescue the poor inebriate from insanity and death—to remove temptation from our young men—to staunch bleeding wounds and bind up broken hearts. Last year we decided in favor of the Law, but the Legislature failed to carry out our views. Let us now show, that after a years reflection, our mind's are the same. Let some one in every town of the County and indeed of the State, circulate petitions of the following or like form.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin, January 1855.

The undersigned citizens of———would respectfully petition your Honorable Body, to enact, at your present session, a Prohibitory Liquor Law, similar to the Maine Law.

Both sexes have a right to be heard. If we desire the Maine Law, let us ask it. If, it is not worth asking, our Representatives may tell us, it was not worth making. They should know our present convictions and be without excuse for inaction. Let them understand that their constituents are in earnest—that we want the Law and want it now. In Waukesha, we have procured about a thousand names—now is the time to work.

Procrastination is dangerous—multitudes if ever saved, must be saved by the action of the present session. Wisconsin furnishes annually 2,000 victims for the drunkard's grave. We beseech you therefore, by your compassion for the wretched, by your interest in the welfare and reputation of our County and State, by every tie that binds you to your native land, by your fear of heaven's frown and hope of heaven's blessing, at once to enroll and forward your names, as the friends of the Maine Law; thus will you do something, to stay that fiery deluge more to be dreaded, than the Eruptions of Etna or Vesuvius.

CITY MATTERS.

MERCHANTS' MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY.—The Annual Statement of this Home Institution will be found in our advertising columns. The past season was a trying one to Insurance Companies, here and elsewhere, but the Merchants' Mutual, as the figures show, has come out "right side up." The election of Officers and Trustees, on Saturday, resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen:

President—L. W. WEEKS.

Vice President—HARRISON LUDINGTON.

Trustees—G. D. DOUSMAN, E. P. ALLIS, G. P. HEWITT, D. NEWHALL, HORATIO HILL.

Mr. P. W. BURROWS is the Secretary of the Company, Mr. D. FERGUSON, Treasurer, and Capt. J. B. MERRILL, Inspector.

A bountiful collation, prepared by BRYDEN, of the "Home," was partaken of, on Monday, by a large number of the friends and customers of the Merchants' Mutual, and a very general wish expressed that their next dividend might be equally satisfactory.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF THE UNITED STATES INSURANCE COMPANY.—This Company held their election yesterday, and the following officers were elected.

President—S. S. DAGGETT.

Vice President—MOSES KNEELAND.

Secretary—J. ALBERT HELFENSTEIN.

Treasurer—JAMES B. MARTIN.

Counsellor—H. L. PALMER.

Directors—JAMES H. MARTIN, MOSES KNEELAND, SAMUEL HALE.

This Company, which commenced business in June last, has already declared a dividend of eight per cent—nearly one per cent per month.

Police Court—Feb. 5.

BEFORE CLINTON WALWORTH ESQ. POLICE JUSTICE.

COST OF BEATING A WIFE.—A man named George Whittaker, was brought down from jail and tried for an assault and battery upon his wife; the woman who bore the marks of a severe beating, narrated the circumstances of the difficulty: the defendant admitted striking her "just as hard as he could," but claimed that it was in self defense. As he had been before the court on another occasion for like conduct, he was fined heavily, $50,00 and costs, and to stand committed until it was paid. Upon a complaint charging him with threatening the life of the defendant, he was required to give bail in the sum of $300 and in default of payment of the fine, and the procuring of bail was taken back to jail, remarking that he would "stay till the day of judgement before he paid it."

[We are requested by the City Marshal who made the arrest in the above case to state that no fault attached to him or any one else in not bringing the defendant down on Saturday, that defendant was much intoxicated when arrested, and that it was for his benefit to remain; until he was thoroughly sobered before his trial.]

For the Daily Sentinel

Messrs Editors:—Permit me through the columns of the Sentinel, to enquire of the Milwaukee Daily News, who the leader of the "Hottentots" was, to whom it referred in its article headed, "The reign of terror." Since it denies referring to Dr. WOLCOTT, we are quite anxious to know who our leader was, so that at the next Election, we can honor the desirone. Speak out, Mr Noose.

ONE OF THE HOTTENTOTS.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 5th.

LIVERPOOL AND LONDON FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—Mr. P. SMYTH has been appointed Agent for this Company for Milwaukee and vicinity. The Company is one of the wealthiest in the world; its paid up capital, surplus and reserve funds amounting now to three millions of dollars. The New York Directors, whose names will be found in the Agent's advertisement, are well-known and prominent business men of that city. The stockholders are personally liable for all losses. Here, certainly, are ample guarantees for insurers. The office of Mr. SMYTH is at the depot of the M. & M. Rail Road, Fourth Ward.

PUBLIC BALL TO-NIGHT.—A public ball will be given to-night, at Treat's Hall, and in order that all can attend, the tickets admitting a Lady and Gentleman, are sold for $2,00 each. The Music will be furnished by SARGEANT'S BAND, which itself is sufficient to ensure a large attendance. A Supper will be supplied, and the Managers intend to make it the Ball of the season. Tickets can be obtained at H. Miller's, or at the door.

CARPET BAG LOST.—In our advertising columns will be found a Reward of Fifty Dollars for a lost Carpet Bag, and no questions asked. The article was lost on the Rail Road between Wauwatosa and Milwaukee.

—[Madison Journal.

BRAVE TALK!—There is evidently a rattling among the dry bones, by the way in which the Madison Democrat talks bravado over the investigations which are going on in the Legislature concerning the way in which State affairs are being administered. It has not the self reliant, calm tone which concious integrity generally preserves, but puts a brazen face on the matter—dares the enemy to come on—calls out to "hurry up the investigations"—and at intervals throws dust in the eyes of the assailants by diverting attention to other quarters—asking among other things, that an "investigation be had into the loans under the last State administration, and their securities."

If there was iniquity under the last State administration, we cannot see what bearing it has upon the present investigations: and we presume that those who are making these inquiries are not green enough to be caught with such chaff, or be drawn off a moment from the matter in hand. When they are done with these investigations there will be time for the prosecution of whatever others may be suggested.

The Madison Democrat has once before insinuated that there was something wrong in the management of the school fund during the last administration, but has never had the manliness to make definite charges or attempt an exposure. It has already, and probably will continue to content itself with personal abuse instead, in the security that it is not in our line or taste to retaliate in kind. It has no charges to make against the late School Fund Commissioners, and is throwing out these insinuations only to draw attention from somthing else.—[Green Bay Advocate (Dem.)

HOUSE OF REFUGE BILL.—We have carefully read the House of Refuge Bill, drawn by the late District Attorney, which will be introduced in the Legislature in a day or two. It will be sent to Madison to-day. It is necessarily long, but embraces clearly the objects for which it is intended, and is worded with care and precision. We shall give a synopsis in our columns as soon as it is presented.

UNION!

Austria Preparing for War!

[PRIVATE DESPATCH TO THE SENTINEL.]

New York, Feb. 5.

Union arrived. Her news has been mostly anticipated, but brings some interesting additional items.

The Russians have only two armed vessels at Sebastopol. The invasion of Principalities by Russians a small affair and greatly exaggerated. Reported that Cabinet at Vienna intimated to England and France its conviction of peace not likely to ensue from present conference. Under these circumstances Austria prepares for war, and will place her armies at the disposal of Allies when requested.

The Snow Blockade at Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 5.

Our troubles, resulting from the late unprecedented snow storm, have not yet ceased. Our city is yet in a great measure, cut off from nearly all communication with the East and West by the usual channels, and the hope which we entertained toward the close of last week, of a speedy resumption of our mail facilities, has proved a futile, or to say the least, a premature one.

The Chicago & Mississippi Railroad, at the last accounts, was still hopelessly blocked in, and Heaven only can tell when it will be reopened.

The Galena Railroad has just succeeded in getting a train through, which left Freeport at 1 o'clock Friday noon. The snow on that Road is said to be packed very hard, so that no impression can be made on it by engines.

The Rock Island Railroad is yet hemmed in on both ends by several big snow banks. The one at this end, 8 miles from Chicago, is said to be 15 feet deep. Several trains are now there struggling and cannot get through. The mails have been brought back to Chicago by team.

The Michigan Southern Railroad is blocked up also, not so bad.

The Michigan Central Railroad is running quite regular, but still trains arrive some 12 to 24 hours behind.

New York, Feb. 3.

The new steam frigate Sabine was launched successfully this morning, at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The brig Bainbridge returns to the Brazil squadron next week, and will take a mail for the officers and men of that squadron.

Montreal, Feb. 3.

The west wing of the Orphan Asylum of St. Blancus, near Quebec, was destroyed by fire yesterday—loss about $12,000. The institution contains about 60 patients, but none were injured.

New Orleans, Feb. 2.

The loss by a fire in this city last night amounts to $125,000, wholly insured.

REVIEW OF THE MARKETS,

FOR THE WEEK ENDING FEBRUARY 6th.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL,
Milwaukee, February 6, 1855.

The heavy snow storms and severe cold of the last ten days have quite interrupted the traffic on the Railroads, and receipts by that conveyance have been light. As the roads improve, however, the number of teams increases, and we look for a busy week, if prices maintain their present level. We have no change to note in Flour or Wheat since our last issue. The range for Spring and Club, at the R. R. Depot is 1,18@1,23, and the mills pay 1,25 for choice samples. Winter Wheat is in good demand at 1,25@1,35.

Rye is sought for at 80@83, and Barley at 90@95; the brewers occasionally paying a little more for prime lots. Oats are readily taken for home use at 34@35, and Corn would command 45@50. Pork has maintained its last week's figures, and we continue our quotations at 3,62½@3,95 for all qualities.

The Money Market continues to improve at the East, and there is good reason to believe that the pinch is over, and better times in prospect.

Our price Current shows the range of quotations for most articles of produce offered in our market.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Tuesday Morning, February 6.

Opinions of the Judges of the Supreme Court in the Rescue Trials.

THE GLOVER RESCUE TRIALS.

The Decision of our Supreme Court.

[illegible] of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin [illegible] on Saturday last and briefly re[illegible] yesterday's Sentinel, discharging S. M. BOOTH and JOHN RYCRAFT, two citizens of this State from the fine and imprisonment to which they had been sentenced by Judge MILLER, after [illegible] in the U. S. District Court of alleged [illegible] of the Fugitive Slave Act, is a matter [illegible] too deep and serious import to be lightly pass[illegible] or dismissed without further remark.— [illegible] this decision as fraught with impor[illegible] consequences to the great cause of Constitutional Rights and Human Liberty; as setting up [illegible] against any further invasion of those [illegible] by the grasping and domineering spirit of [illegible] and as conferring immortal honor upon [illegible] which pronounced and the State which [illegible] this righteous judgment, we have thought [illegible] proper occasion to say before our [illegible] narrative of the cause, the [illegible] and the issue of the GLOVER RESCUE [illegible]

Its [illegible] was the signal for a general [illegible] the people and press of the Free [illegible] provisions and its [illegible] constitutionality, and from that day [illegible] has not ceased, nor will it while [illegible] the American Statute Book. [illegible] was enforced in various quarters [illegible] instances seldom however, with[illegible] popular commotion, and some[illegible] of money, attended with the [illegible] blood and the sacrifice of [illegible] those distant and disgraceful [illegible] people of Milwaukee were for several [illegible] and indignant lookers on. But [illegible] was at hand when the atrocity of the [illegible] to be brought home to them.

[illegible] March last, a negro, bruised, bleeding [illegible] was brought to this city, in cus[illegible] U. S. Marshal COTTON, and [illegible] County Jail. In spite of the efforts [illegible] to keep their secret, the fact [illegible] The circumstances, too, at[illegible] the capture, came out. As the story [illegible] mouth, the waves of popular [illegible] began to rise; and gathering groups [illegible] attested the public interest in [illegible] It was soon known that brutal [illegible] violence had been used to arrest [illegible] the charge of being a slave, and [illegible] suspected that foul play would be [illegible] to complete what force had begun. [illegible] were secured for the imprisoned fugi[illegible] writ of Habeas Corpus applied for and [illegible] the Judge of the County Court. [illegible] made return to the writ that the pris[illegible] was not in his custody. A second writ was [illegible] against the U. S. Marshal. [illegible] people assembled by thousands on [illegible] Square; a meeting was organ[illegible] made resolutions adopted pledg[illegible] to stand by the writ of Habeas [illegible] and the right of trial by Jury; and com[illegible] appointed to wait on the U. S. officers [illegible] whether they intended to obey the sec[illegible] and produce their prisoner. While the [illegible] was at its height, a delegation, 100 [illegible] from Racine—whence the alleged slave [illegible] abducted the previous night— [illegible] upon the ground, adding fuel to the fast[illegible] At this critical juncture, too, came [illegible] that the writ of Habeas Corpus would [illegible] and the suspicion was strength[illegible] the negro was to be carried back into [illegible] had been brought to the Milwau[illegible] by sheer force and without warrant of [illegible] was but, by an irresistible im[illegible] and without concert, or premeditation, a [illegible] made for the Jail, the doors battered [illegible] the prisoner released, placed in a wagon [illegible] beyond the reach of pursuit, amid [illegible] of sympathizing thous[illegible]

Our own [illegible] authorities were competent to the [illegible] the Federal Government. [illegible] the initiative. Their first [illegible] the arrest of S. M. BOOTH, [illegible] ringleader in the rescue, by [illegible] Commissioner Smith. An [illegible] followed, and Mr. Booth was held [illegible] to appear and answer the complaint at [illegible] of the U. S. Court. He gave bail [illegible] afterwards was surrendered by his [illegible] that a writ of Habeas Corpus [illegible] on his behalf, before Judge [illegible] our State Supreme Court. The writ [illegible] granted, argument had upon it, and Mr. [illegible] discharged, the Judge holding that the [illegible] was insufficient, and the Fugitive [illegible] under which the proceeding was [illegible] unconstitutional. These points were en[illegible] able and elaborate opinion, which [illegible] circulated thro' the public press. [illegible] the U. S. Officers took an ap[illegible] bench of the Supreme Court.— [illegible] the decision; all three Judg[illegible] order of discharge, tho' one [illegible] Crawford dissented as to that [illegible] Judge Smith's opinion which held the [illegible] Slave Act to be unconstitutional.

[illegible] District Court, Judge MIL[illegible] presiding, commenced its summer term at [illegible] and the Grand Jury found indictments [illegible] Messrs. BOOTH, RYCRAFT and others, for [illegible] in the rescue of Glover. Upon [illegible] and by order of the Judge, Mr. [illegible] was again arrested. He went to jail and [illegible] once more invoked the interposition [illegible] State Supreme Court. It was denied [illegible] upon the ground that the jurisdiction of [illegible] had attached, and that comity re[illegible] that the State Court should not interfere [illegible] Federal Court had heard the case and [illegible] judgment. Thereupon Mr. Booth [illegible] and stand his trial. The fall [illegible] District Court came on. Mr. [illegible] confined to his bed by severe illness and his case went over. John Rycraft, however, was tried under the indictment found against him in July, convicted and sentence deferred. In January, the month just past, the U. S. Court again convened. The Grand Jury, carefully selected, found new bills of indictment against Mr. Booth (the old one having been abandoned) and several others. An attempt was made to quash the indictment on the ground that the Grand Jury was improperly and unfairly drawn. The motion for that purpose was overruled and the prisoner put upon his trial. The feeble hands of the U. S. District Attorney were strengthened for the occasion by the employment of able Counsel, whose zeal was stimulated by a liberal fee, as well as by personal and political antipathy towards the accused. Unusual pains were taken to get a Jury whose opinions of the Fugitive Slave Act would not stand in the way of a conviction. The presiding Judge threw his official weight into the scales against the prisoner. The evidence showed that Mr. BOOTH had been among the most active in getting up the meeting at the Court House Square, had been prominent in all the proceedings then and thereabout, and had been seen in close proximity to the wagon in which Glover was hurried out of the city. There was, however, not a particle of proof to connect him with the actual jail-breaking and jail-delivery, or to show that he was one whit more guilty than any other of the two, or three thousand citizens who "countenanced" and applauded the escape. But the Judge held that enough and more than enough had been proved to convict the defendant, under the law, and of that law, it was for him, and not the Jury to judge. The Jury, fettered by the positive directions of the Court and the majority of them, as we believe, in the conscientious discharge of their supposed duty, found a verdict against the prisoner. Motions were made in arrest of judgment and for a new trial. The form of the indictment was challenged, the sufficiency of the proof disputed, and strong evidence offered that one at least of the jurors had prejudged the case. But all in vain. The Judge overruled the motions and hastened to pronounce sentence.—Mr. Booth was condemned to one month's imprisonment, $1000 fine and costs of prosecution, $451,01. Mr. Rycraft to $200 fine and ten days' imprisonment. Immediately after sentence both prisoners were conducted to our County Jail and there confined.

The news created a great sensation in this city and as it flew along the telegraph wires and sped thro' the mails, produced intense excitement throughout the State. A public meeting, hastily called, but most numerously and respectably attended, gave utterance to the outraged feeling of our city. The county responded promptly and universally. Meantime the counsel of the prisoners once more appealed for help to the Supreme Court of the State, and this time not in vain. A writ of Habeas Corpus was granted, and in obedience to the summons, escorted by two thousand of their fellow citizens, the prisoners, in charge of the Sheriff, proceeded on Monday week to the R. R. Depot, to take the Cars for Madison. On Saturday last they returned FREE MEN! The Supreme Court having discharged them from confinement. Two of the Judges, WHITON and SMITH reiterated the opinions expressed by them in July last, as to the unconstitutionality of the Fugitive Slave Act. The third, CRAWFORD, adhering to his previous view of that question concurred in the order of discharge, on the ground that no offence, under that act, was charged in the indictment. The decision of the Court therefore was UNANIMOUS.

So stands the case to-day. Messrs BOOTH and RYCRAFT, by the fiat of our State Court, have been released from the fine and imprisonment to which the sentence of the Federal Court had subjected them. The Fugitive Slave Act has again been pronounced unconstitutional and void by the Supreme tribunal of the State. The great writ of Liberty has been sustained. The threatening surge of Slavery aggression has been stayed in its course. The birth-right of Wisconsin—youngest and fairest offspring of the immortal Ordinance of 1787—has been nobly vindicated.—Slavery, or involuntary servitude, except for crime, cannot and will not be tolerated within her borders. KIDNAPPING finds no favor with her Courts, no protection in her jails, no countenance among her people. WISCONSIN is and will remain a FREE STATE, and while she claims no right and cherishes no desire to intermeddle in the domestic affairs of her sister sovereignties, she will at least assert and exercise at all times and at every hazard, the power to protect her own citizens, and to maintain and defend, in all their integrity, the writ of Habeas Corpus and right of trial by jury.

☞ "The Republicans are very great friends to the German citizens of the State—very great indeed. They always said they were. And last week, to prove it, the Republicans in the Assembly refused to concur with the Democrats of the Senate in having a reasonable number of public documents printed in the German language.—[Green Bay Advocate.

The Advocate is mistaken as to the fact, no such resolution having been sent from the Senate to the Assembly. But suppose the Republicans in the Assembly had so refused, they would have done no more than their duty. The Constitution expressly declares that all printing ordered by the Legislature for their use, or for the State, shall be let by contract to the lowest bidder. The proposition which the Advocate so warmly commends, was to order a large amount of printing done, from different newspaper establishments in the State, and at high rates of pay. Even a Democratic Legislature never would have made such an order for public documents printed in English, and why should a different rule prevail as to German?

Steamboat Arrangements.

Will the Milwaukee papers inform us whether the arrangements for a Steamboat connection between Milwaukee and the ports of Manitowoc and Two Rivers, for the coming season, have been finally concluded.

With the certain prospect of an early connection with Chicago, by Rail Road, a daily line of boats to this point, is a matter of the first importance to the business men of Milwaukee as the chance of securing a large proportion of the trade of a country, whose annual exports and imports are counted by millions, will be much increased. On this point you may all speak at once if you choose.—[Manitowoc Tribune.

We copy the above from our Manitowoc contemporary in order to invite our merchants, business men and vessel owners to give the subject their early attention. We presume that there will be two Passenger trains a day on the Lake Shore Rail Road and there should be boats to connect with them, running from this port to Manitowoc and Two Rivers and stopping at all intermediate points. Our city, as the transhipping point from cars to boats is largely interested in the establishment and maintainance of a good line of steamers on the route indicated.

PRETTY KEEN.—In the Assembly, a few days since, a resolution was introduced enquiring into the affairs of the Improvement Company, and it was referred to a committee of which Morgan L. Martin is chairman. This is the way in which the honest 'Republicans" do their work.—[Menasha Advocate.

The reference in question was to the committee on State Affairs, as the proper one, but the Chairman, Mr MARTIN immediately reported back the resolution with the recommendation that it be sent to a Select Committee, and the Assembly so ordered. The Committee consists of Messrs Topliff, Tibbetts, Hull, Judson and Gary. That "is the way in which the honest "Republicans" do their work." Will the Advocate please make a note of it?

Remarks of Judge Miller.

At the opening of the U. S. District Court this morning, Judge Miller alluded at length to the late action of the Supreme Court in taking Booth and Rycraft out of the custody into which they had been committed by the judgement of the District Court. It was an elaborate review of the case, in which he examined the Fugitive Slave law, and declared it to be constitutional, and denied the right of the Supreme Court to interfere either under the laws of the United States or the State. He concluded by stating that, as there was no immediate necessity for providing a temporary place of confinement, he shall refer the whole matter to the government at Washington. We shall publish the views of Judge Miller to morrow.

We copy the above from the News of yesterday, as a quasi official statement of Judge MILLER's position in the Habeas Corpus case.

From Madison.

Abstract of Senate Proceedings, Saturday.

Madison, Feb. 3, '55.

Seventeen Senators appeared in their seats this morning, and the usual amount of business was transacted. The Chief Clerk was authorized to draw $500 towards his salary. Messrs Clement and Bashford were appointed a committee under joint resolution from the assembly to investigate the matter of the loss of the resolution withholding the appropriation from the Agricultural Society—which you will recollect came up missing between the two houses a few days since. A joint Resolution for the appointment of a Committee to visit the State Prison, and look into the charges against Sup't Starks, the situation of the prison, &c. was adopted, and Messrs. Bowen and Bashford appointed on said Committee. A Committee of three to investigate the matter of the Lunatic Asylum Contract &c., was raised on motion of Judge DUNN, Messrs Dunn, Eldridge and Taylor appointed.

A Message was received from Gov. Barstow, transmitting Resolutions of the Legislature of Rhode Island in favor of a repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law, and that portion of Nebraska bill admitting Slavery; also resolutions in favor of bounty lands to the officers, soldiers and sailors of war of 1812; and one in favor of Cheap Ocean Postage which were referred to select committee, consisting of Messrs. Harvey, Loy and Gibson.

Mr. West introduced a bill to authorize the taking Wisconsin bank bills, in payment of taxes which was referred to a select Committee.—Messrs. West, Dewey and Hadley.

Mr. Bashford introduced a bill to amend Charter of Lawrence Institute.

Mr. Bowen to appropriate to P. L. Messin $40; Mr. Pyncheon $64; Austin Kellogg $188; Darwin Clark $67:

The following bills were passed, viz:

To amend charter of Symphony College.

To appropriate to Tibbits and Gordon $1069; John Hollihan $62; Mat. Martin 2d $47; Danl. Arndt $24; Mat. Martin, $102; O. B. Ellis, $82; also a memorial for a daily mail from Madison to Janesville.

The Supreme Court this morning discharged Booth & Rycraft. If I can get a copy of the opinions I will forward to you by Monday morning train.

Judge Kent and Gen. Alexander Hamilton vs. Judge Miller.

In the celebrated case of the "People vs. Croswell," who was prosecuted for libel in 1803—for libel on THOMAS JEFFERSON, then President of the U. S.—Gen. Hamilton argued that, "it was not only the province of the jury in all criminal cases, to judge of the intent with which the act was done, but they were also authorized to judge of the law as connected with the fact."

"In England, trial by jury has always been cherished as the great security of the subject against the oppression of government."

"The real danger to our liberties was not from a few provisional troops. The road to tyranny will be opened by making dependent Judges, by packing juries, by stifling leaders and patriots."

"The most dangerous, the most sure, the most fatal of tyrannies was by selecting and sacrificing single individuals under the mask and forms of law, by dependent and partial tribunals. Against such measures we ought to keep a vigilant eye, and take a manly stand. Whenever they arise, we ought to resist, and resist till we have hurled the demagogues and tyrants from their imagined thrones."

"That in criminal cases, the law and the fact, being always blended, the jury for reasons of a political and peculiar nature, for the security of life and liberty, are entrusted with the power of deciding both law and fact."

In the same case, on motion for a new trial, Hon. Justice KENT, says, "at the trial of ALGERNON SYDNEY, Lord Chief Justice Jeffries, in his charge to the jury told them it was the duty of the Court to declare the law to the jury, and the jury were bound to receive their declaration of the law." They did in that case unfortunately receive the law from the court, and convicted the prisoner, but his attainder was after reversed by parliament, and the law as laid down on that trial was denied and reprobated—the violence of the judge and severity of the jury, held up to the reproach and detestation of posterity.

"The case of the seven Bishops is a precedent of more consoling kind; it was an auspicious and memorable instance of the exercise of the right of the jury to determine both the law and the fact."

Gen. HAMILTON also said, "that the jury ought, undoubtedly, to pay every respectful regard to the opinion of the court; but suppose a trial in a capital case, and the jury are satisfied from the arguments of counsel, the law authorities that are read, and their own judgments upon the application of the law to the facts that the law arising in the case, is different from that which the court advances, are they not bound by their duty to their Creator and themselves to pronounce according to their own convictions? To oblige them to follow, in such a case, implicitly the direction of the court, is to make them commit perjury and homicide under the forms of law. Their error is fatal and cannot be corrected. The victim is sacrificed, he is executed—he perishes without redress. Was he a juror, in such a case, he would endure the rack rather than surrender his own convictions on the altar of power,—rather than obey the judicial mandate."

MESSRS. EDITORS:—If you choose, please publish the forgoing when you can conveniently find room.

The opinion of such men as Gen. HAMILTON and Judge KENT, must have its influence with all right minded men. I have not quoted Judge MILLER for the reason it would fill too much space and it seems to be generally conceded that his charge was a one-sided affair. I would not do him injustice, but my convictions of the "Fugitive Slave Law" are so antagonistic to his, that I feel it a duty, that every lover of freedom should contribute something to the cause of freedom.—Had I ever seen a single expression in his charges, adverse to the existence of that abomination, I should have more charity for his opinions. But if I am not mistaken he approves the law. If he disapproves, but feels it his duty to carry out its odious provisions, I would respect his decisions, while I might regret his views of duty. I fear he may be influenced by an apprehension of the loss of executive favor. If he dislikes the law, he ought to resign his office, rather than be the instrument of enforcing it. That it does violence to the plain declaration of the Constitution of the Federal Union is certain. That it violates the "DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE"—one principle of which is, that "all men are born free and equal, and endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, as LIFE, LIBERTY and the pursuit of happiness," is certain. Resistance is justifiable when laws are violent and oppressive, else was our own Revolution an unjustifiable resistance to the arm of power.

JURIS CONSULTUS.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Courier.

From Washington.

Washington, Jan. 26.

The Supreme Court is proceeding slowly through its heavy calendar. Two-thirds of the term have expired, and the middle of the docket has but just been reached. The important case of ABLEMAN vs. BOOTH, arising out of the forcible rescue of an alleged fugitive from service in Wisconsin last summer, and involving the constitutionality of the fugitive act, and the limits of State and Federal jurisdiction, will probably go over among others. Another case is one in which the construction of the old Spanish law of Indian titles will be tried. The case comes from California, and covers the title to great tracts of land there. There are two causes in which the heirs of General LAFAYETTE are plaintiffs, and the object of which is to establish their claim to extensive tracts in Louisiana. The delay in rendering the decision upon the final motion in the great case of the Wheeling Bridge, indicates a difference of opinion among the judges on the points submitted.—[N. Y. Courier & Enquirer, Jan. 29.

MONETARY.—The bill-holders of our suspended Banks may be happy to learn that the last quotations of State Bonds sold in New York city was ninety seven cents and prospects of raising. The Banks have also three per cent interest additional with the Auditor which makes the bills at present at par.—[Chicago Democrat.

Meeting of the Citizens of the Town of Oakland, held at the School House at Oakland Centre.

OAKLAND, Jan. 30th, 1855.

Meeting called to order, and on motion GIRARD CRANE chosen Chairman, unanimously and GEO. C. SMITH, Secretary.

By request of chairman, Geo C Smith presented the following resolutions, which were ably discussed by Doct. Bryant of Lake Mills when Geo. C. Smith and Mr. Ellis, were called out to discuss the resolutions farther. When on motion, the resolutions were unanimously adopted, as reported.

Whereas, S. M. Booth and John Rycraft are now incarcerated in the County Jail of Milwaukee County, for no crime, except you call an act of Humanity a crime, and whereas, they are both so in jail, in consequence of the partial proceedings of Judge Miller, in violation of both justice, law, and evidence. Therefore

Resolved, That we, the citizens of the town of Oakland, agree and bind ourselves to sustain the said Booth and Rycraft, both by our voice and purse to the full extent of our ability, and we hereby tender them our united and heartfelt sympathy for their martyrdom in the cause of Human Liberty.

Resolved, That we cannot look on the course of Judge Miller with the "least degree of allowance," and that we regard him as a disgrace to the name of Judge, a Tyrant when clothed with a little Brief Authority, an old Grany and a miserable Doughface.

Resolved, That we will continue the war on the Fugitive Slave Law, and bind ourselves to fight on until the heinous, disgraceful, oppressive and infernal enactment shall be expelled from our Statute book.

Resolved, That we are opposed to packed juries, and, of course to officers who pack them, and our faith in the 'Higher Law,' is so full that if our fellow citizens are imprisoned by the verdict of such packed juries we shall feel justified in using our Spiritual rappers to release them.

Resolved, That if true (which was not proved,) that they committed the acts with which they are charged, we believe with some of the jury on Booth's trial, that "he (Booth) performed a most noble, benevolent and humane act," and believing thus we will act our belief, in endeavoring to shield him from harm for doing a "noble, benevolent and humane act."

Resolved, That these resolutions and the proceedings of this meeting be sent to said Booth and R. King for publication, and said Booth be requested to send a copy of his paper containing them to Judge Miller. Adopted

Mr. Bryant presented additional resolutions, as follows, which were also unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That since the laws of our land have become so horribly corrupt as to allow citizens to suffer severe fine and imprisonment, merely for obeying the promptings of the impulses of our better nature, and the laws of God, that it is high time for the strong arm of the people to be aroused in the defence of liberty and the God given rights of our humanity. Adopted.

Resolved, That the imprisonment of these, our fellow citizens, Booth and Rycraft is only indicative of the liability we are all under, of having our liberty taken from us, and our most sacred rights being invaded, and that we should not only assist them in regaining their liberty, but also be prepared to resist, even at the expense of life the encroachment of "this sum of all Villanies." Adopted

Resolved, That in the recent mock trial of Mr. Booth, there was no evidence offered which proved him guilty of violating even the Fugitive Slave Law, and that his sentence and imprisonment are the result of a malicious prejudice by an unprincipled Judge, whose high ambition is to be a tool for doing the dirty work of Slavery. Adopted

Resolved, That on the 22d of February, the day on which Mr Booth's imprisonment expires, and also the birthday of our immortal Washington, that there be a universal gathering of our citizens in the City of Milwaukee, to welcome Mr. Booth with cheering and congratulation, as the exponent of liberty, and the inalienable right of men. Adopted

On motion a Committee of six, consisting of E. G. Snell, Geo C Smith, B F Pixley, E. F. Hart, S Levit, and Charles Goodrich were appointed by the Chair, to solicit funds for the release of S. M. Booth and John Rycraft from imprisonment, and to defend them from the penalties of a corrupt Judicial tribunal, and to solicit subscription to the Free Democrat published by S. M. Booth.

On motion meeting adjourned "sine die."

Temperance Meetings at Waukesha

A meeting having been called by the friends of Temperance, a few met at the Congregational Church, in Waukesha village, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 24th. The meeting was opened with prayer, by the Rev. MEAD HOLMES, who was subsequently appointed President, and THOS. FAULKNER, Secretary. Some remarks were made by those who had circulated petitions, and others.

A committee of three, viz., Dr. CASTLE, D. R. BACON, and D. JOHNSON, was appointed to prepare an address to the people of Waukesha County, on the subject of the Maine Law, to be published in our county, papers and in the Sentinel, and Free Democrat, of Milwaukee;—and to confer with the friends of Temperance in the different towns.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet at the Congregational Church next Sabbath evening, to hear a lecture from Dr. CASTLE.

SABBATH EVENING, Jan. 28th

A meeting was held according to adjournment, a large number being present. Dr. CASTLE delivered an interesting lecture.

The report of the committee, was then called for, and the following address, written by Rev MEAD HOLMES, was read and adopted.

J. FAULKNER, Sec'y.

THE MAINE LAW.

Fellow-Citizens of Waukesha County:

Allow us to address you, briefly on the importance of united and earnest effort, to secure the passage of a Prohibitory Liquor Law, at the present session of the Legislature. The sad developements of the past year, more fully than ever, demonstrate the necessity of such a measure. The License system, whether License is granted or withheld, is of small account. In Waukesha, License is withheld, but intoxicating liquors are sold openly in fourteen places. More than when License was granted. Intemperance in our midst, and with few exceptions, throughout our State, has reached an appalling height. And what is the remedy? Those now engaged in the Rum Traffic, are not to be reached by ordinary means. We must have the Maine Law with all its pains and penalties. Regulating the evils of Rum selling in community, is like regulating the evils of fire in gun powder. Experience shows that the only safe regulation is annihilation. The happy working of the proposed law in several States is beyound dispute. In Massachusetts, although at first, the Rum Capitalists pledged $500,000 to defeat it, now every department of government is in its favor even Boston is yielding to the overwhelming evidence of its necessity and value. In Connecticutt, its bitterest opposers, are becoming its warmest advocates. Says Governor DUTTON, "it has proved more efficient than its most sanguine friends anticipated—streets that before were constantly disturbed by drunken brawls, are now as quiet as any others." In New York, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Legislature, are all committed to a Prohibitory Law. The law by its actual operation, so commends itself to the better judgment of enlightened, candid men, that not only in New England, but in all parts of our land, it is hailed as a Star of hope.—Pennsylvania and New Jersey, are bound to have the Law, and even in Texas almost the entire Press, is vindicating its claims. But surely, no State needs it more than Wisconsin. We need it, to save our property—to restore plenty and happiness to many dwellings now the abodes of want and misery,—to rescue the poor inebriate from insanity and death—to remove temptation from our young men—to stanch bleeding wounds and bind up broken hearts. Last year we decided in favor of the Law, but the Legislature failed to carry out our views. Let us now show, that after a years reflection, our mind's are the same. Let some one in every town of the County and indeed of the State, circulate petitions of the following or like form.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin, January 1855.

The undersigned citizens of ——— would respectfully petition your Honorable Body, to enact, at your present session, a Prohibitory Liquor Law, similar to the Maine Law.

Both sexes have a right to be heard. If we desire the Maine Law, let us ask it. If, it is not worth asking, our Representatives may tell us, it was not worth making. They should know our present convictions and be without excuse for inaction. Let them understand that their constituents are in earnest—that we want the Law and want it now. In Waukesha, we have procured about a thousand names—now is the time to work.

Procrastination is dangerous—multitudes if ever saved, must be saved by the action of the present session. Wisconsin furnishes annually 2,000 victims for the drunkard's grave. We beseech you therefore, by your compassion for the wretched, by your interest in the welfare and reputation of our County and State, by every tie that binds you to your native land, by your fear of heaven's frown and hope of heaven's blessing, at once to enroll and forward your names, as the friends of the Maine Law; thus will you do something, to stay that fiery deluge more to be dreaded, than the Eruptions of Etna or Vesuvius.

CITY MATTERS.

MERCHANTS' MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY.—The Annual Statement of this Home Institution will be found in our advertising columns. The past season was a trying one to Insurance Companies, here and elsewhere, but the Merchants' Mutual, as the figures show, has come out "right side up." The election of Officers and Trustees, on Saturday, resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen:

President—L. W. WEEKS

Vice President—HARRISON LUDINGTON

Trustees—G. D. DOUSMAN, E. P. ALLIS, G. P. HEWITT, D. NEWHALL, HORATIO HILL.

Mr. P. W. BURROWS is the Secretary of the Company, Mr. D. FERGUSON, Treasurer, and Capt. J. B. MERRILL, Inspector.

A bountiful collation, prepared by B[illegible] of the "Home," was partaken of, on Monday, by a large number of the friends and customers of the Merchants' Mutual, and a very general wish expressed that their next dividend might be equally satisfactory.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF THE UNITED STATES INSURANCE COMPANY.—This Company held their election yesterday, and the following officers were elected.

President—S. S. DAGGETT.

Vice President—MOSES KNEELAND.

Secretary—J. ALBERT HELFENSTEIN.

Treasurer—JAMES B. MARTIN.

Counsellor—H. L. PALMER.

Directors—JAMES B. MARTIN, MOSES KNEELAND, SAMUEL HALE.

This Company, which commenced business in June last, has already declared a dividend of eight per cent—nearly one per cent per month.

Police Court—Feb. 5.

BEFORE CLINTON WALWORTH ESQ. POLICE JUSTICE.

COST OF BEATING A WIFE.—A man named George Whittaker, was brought down from jail and tried for an assault and battery upon his wife; the woman who bore the marks of a severe beating, narrated the circumstances of the difficulty: the defendant admitted striking her "just as hard as he could," but claimed that it was in self defense. As he had been before the court on another occasion for like conduct, he was fined heavily, $50,00 and costs, and to stand committed until it was paid. Upon a complaint charging him with threatening the life of the defendant, he was required to give bail in the sum of $300 and in default of payment of the fine, and the procuring of bail was taken back to jail, remarking that he would "stay till the day of judgement before he paid it."

[We are requested by the City Marshal who made the arrest in the above case to state that no fault attached to him or any one else in not bringing the defendant down on Saturday, that defendant was much intoxicated when arrested, and that it was for his benefit to remain; until he was thoroughly sobered before his trial.]

For the Daily Sentinel

Messrs Editors:—Permit me through the columns of the Sentinel, to enquire of the Milwaukee Daily News, who the leader of the "Hottentots" was, to whom it referred in its article headed, "The reign of terror." Since it denies referring to Dr. WOLCOTT, we are quite anxious to know who our leader was, so that at the next Election, we can honor the desirous. Speak out, Mr NOCES.

ONE OF THE HOTTENTOTS.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 5th.

LIVERPOOL AND LONDON FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—Mr. P. SMYTH has been appointed Agent for this Company for Milwaukee and vicinity. The Company is one of the wealthiest in the world; its paid up capital, surplus and reserve funds amounting now to three millions of dollars. The New York Directors, whose names will be found in the Agent's advertisement, are well-known and prominent business men of that city. The stockholders are personally liable for all losses. Here, certainly, are ample guarantees for insurers. The office of Mr. SMYTH is at the depot of the M. & M. Rail Road, Fourth Ward.

PUBLIC BALL TO-NIGHT.—A public ball will be given to-night, at Treat's Hall, and in order that all can attend, the tickets admitting a Lady and Gentleman, are sold for $2,00 each. The Music will be furnished by SARGEANT'S BAND, which itself is sufficient to ensure a large attendance. A Supper will be supplied, and the Managers intend to make it the Ball of the season. Tickets can be obtained at H. Miller's, or at the door.

CARPET BAG LOST.—In our advertising columns will be found a Reward of Fifty Dollars for a lost Carpet Bag, and no questions asked. The article was lost on the Rail Road between Wauwatosa and Milwaukee.

—[Madison Journal.

BRAVE TALK!—There is evidently a rattling among the dry bones, by the way in which the Madison Democrat talks bravado over the investigations which are going on in the Legislature concerning the way in which State affairs are being administered. It has not the self reliant, calm tone which concious integrity generally preserves, but puts a brazen face on the matter—dares the enemy to come on—calls out to "hurry up the investigations"—and at intervals throws dust in the eyes of the assailants by diverting attention to other quarters—asking among other things, that an "investigation be had into the loans under the last State administration, and their securities."

If there was iniquity under the last State administration, we cannot see what bearing it has upon the present investigations: and we presume that those who are making these inquiries are not green enough to be caught with such chaff, or be drawn off a moment from the matter in hand. When they are done with these investigations there will be time for the prosecution of whatever others may be suggested.

The Madison Democrat has once before insinuated that there was something wrong in the management of the school fund during the last administration, but has never had the manliness to make definite charges or attempt an exposure. It has already, and probably will continue to content itself with personal abuse instead, in the security that it is not in our line or taste to retaliate in kind. It has no charges to make against the late School Fund Commissioners, and is throwing out these insinuations only to draw attention from somthing else.—[Green Bay Advocate (Dem.)

HOUSE OF REFUGE BILL.—We have carefully read the House of Refuge Bill, drawn by the late District Attorney, which will be introduced in the Legislature in a day or two. It will be sent to Madison to-day. It is necessarily long, but embraces clearly the objects for which it is intended, and is worded with care and precision. We shall give a synopsis in our columns as soon as it is presented.

Austria Preparing for War!

[PRIVATE DESPATCH TO THE SENTINEL.]

New York, Feb. 5.

Union arrived. Her news has been mostly anticipated, but brings some interesting additional items.

The Russians have only two armed vessels at Sebastopol. The invasion of Principalities by Russians a small affair and greatly exaggerated. Reported that Cabinet at Vienna intimated to England and France its conviction of peace not likely to ensue from present conference. Under these circumstances Austria prepares for war, and will place her armies at the disposal of Allies when requested.

HOUSE—The resolution setting apart the 8th for consideration of bills of a public character, reported by the Judiciary Committee, was passed by a vote of 126 to 42. Tuesday, 15th, was fixed for the consideration of public bills from the Com. on Naval Affairs.

Concord, Feb. 5.

Rev. JNO. MOORE, pastor of the Universalist Society of this city and lately the K. N. nominee for Governor, dropped dead in the street this morning, probably from affection of the heart.

Washington, Feb. 5th.

SENATE.—Mr. Stuart presented a resolution of the Legislature of Michigan, instructing the delegates from that State, to oppose the introduction of of Slavery in the Territories of the United States, and to use their influence to procure the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law. Mr. Cass said he should neither obey the instructions, nor resign his seat.

TOLEDO, Feb. 5th

Fire on Saturday night, burning Rye & Co's Book Store T. C. Stewarts Dry Goods; total loss $10,000; insurance about $8,00.

Chicago, Feb. 5.

Weather milder this P. M., but western and southern Railroads are still in a bad condition.

House of Representatives on Saturday passed a resolution repudiating the course of our Senators in Congress on the Kansas-Nebraska bill, by ayes 37, noes 27.

Washington, Feb 5th.

SENATE.—Mr. Cass spoke at length in defining his position. Mr. Seward made a few remarks, saying sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. When the proper time comes I shall be prepared to act. After sundry memorials &c., the Bounty land bill was taken up and after being amended, was finally passed.

New York, Feb. 5th.

Steamship Geo. Law, sailed this P. M. for Aspinwall, with a large number of California passengers. She also took an excursion party of 20 to assist in the opening ceremonies of the Panama R. R.

The Snow Blockade at Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 5.

Our troubles, resulting from the late unprecedented snow storm, have not yet ceased. Our city is yet in a great measure, cut off from nearly all communication with the East and West by the usual channels, and the hope which we entertained toward the close of last week, of a speedy resumption of our mail facilities, has proved a futile, or to say the least, a premature one.

The Chicago & Mississippi Railroad, at the last accounts, was still hopelessly blocked in, and Heaven only can tell when it will be reopened.

The Galena Railroad has just succeeded in getting a train through, which left Freeport at 1 o'clock Friday noon. The snow on that Road is said to be packed very hard, so that no impression can be made on it by engines.

The Rock Island Railroad is yet hemmed in on both ends by several big snow banks. The one at this end, 8 miles from Chicago, is said to be 15 feet deep. Several trains are now there struggling and cannot get through. The mails have been brought back to Chicago by team.

The Michigan Southern Railroad is blocked up also, not so bad.

The Michigan Central Railroad is running quite regular, but still trains arrive some 12 to 24 hours behind.

New York, Feb. 3.

The new steam frigate Sabine was launched successfully this morning, at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The brig Bainbridge returns to the Brazil squadron next week, and will take a mail for the officers and men of that squadron.

Montreal, Feb. 3.

The west wing of the Orphan Asylum of St. Blancus, near Quebec, was destroyed by fire yesterday—loss about $12,000. The institution contains about 60 patients, but none were injured.

New Orleans, Feb. 2.

The loss by a fire in this city last night amounts to $125,000, wholly insured.

REVIEW OF THE MARKETS, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FEBRUARY 6th.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL,
MILWAUKEE, February 6, 1855.

The heavy snow storms and severe cold of the last ten days have quite interrupted the traffic on the Railroads, and receipts by that conveyance have been light. As the roads improve, however, the number of teams increases, and we look for a busy week, if prices maintain their present level. We have no change to note in Flour or Wheat since our last issue. The range for Spring and Club, at the R. R. Depot is 1,18@1,23, and the mills pay 1,25 for choice samples. Winter Wheat is in good demand at 1,25@1,35.

Rye is sought for at 80@83, and Barley at 80@95; the brewers occasionally paying a little more for prime lots. Oats are readily taken for home use at 34@35. and Corn would command 45@50. Pork has maintained its last week's figures, and we continue our quotations at 3,62½@3,95 for all qualities.

The Money Market continues to improve at the East, and there is good reason to believe that the pinch is over, and better times in prospect.

Our price Current shows the range of quotations for most articles of produce offered in our market.

Resolutions by the People.

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY, That for the last two years we have been in the constant habit of using the Mustang Liniment for Rheumatism, and for all Sores, Bruises, Sprains and Burns, and it has never failed to give immediate relief.

RESOLVED, That we have also used the Mustang Liniment for the Piles, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum and Chapped Hands, and that it has always cured.

RESOLVED, BY THE LADIES, That we have used the Mustang Liniment for Sore Nipples, Sore Breasts, Chafes and Sores on Children, and for Moth or Freckles on the face and neck; and it has always proved effectual—leaving the skin soft, smooth and white!

RESOLVED, BY ALL AGES AND SEXES, That we shall ever continue the use of the Mustang Liniment, because we have tried and proved its efficacy. See advertisement in another column.

VOLUME XI. MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL. N[illegible]

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

Opinion by Justice Smith,

In the matter of the petition of John Rycraft for a writ of Habeas Corpus and to be discharged from imprisonment: and in the matter of Sherman M. Booth.

The facts in these two cases are essentially the same, and so far as the observations, which I feel called upon to make may be uttered, they will be applicable to both, and therefore for the sake of convenience reference will be made to the petition of Rycraft only.

On the application of Sherman M. Booth at the last term of this Court for a writ of Habeas Corpus, [illegible] copy of the indictment was presented, [illegible] a copy of the warrant upon which he had been arrested, which recited merely that he had been arrested under the Act of Congress of 1850, to aid in the escape of one Joshua Glover, [illegible]. This was an ordinary Bench Warrant, to bring in a defendant to answer to an indictment found in the United States District Court, and it appearing that we ought not, (and indeed [illegible] inspection of the indictment we could [illegible] with the regular action of that [illegible] was bound to presume, that if the [illegible] at the proper time it should be [illegible] for examination, failed to present a [illegible] which that Court had jurisdiction, or charged no offence at all, the Court in which it was found would so decide, and that all such questions were preliminarily within the proper scope of the power of that Court. But now the case is different. All those questions have been [illegible] and without avail; and the petitioner comes before us and shows, by the return of the officer, that he has been pressed on to a conviction, and sentenced to imprisonment, and is now actually imprisoned, within this State, and that the sole authority therefor, is a transcript of the record of such conviction.

The first, the fundamental question which the case presents is: Has this Court the power to [illegible] into the legality of the authority by which the prisoner is held?

It seems to me, that the solution to this question [illegible] found in a few simple, elementary [illegible] which require little or no proof or [illegible] them.

[illegible] of Government to protect and secure the rights of the citizen, among which is the right of liberty.

The duty of the Government, is to be measured by the extent of the individual right, and it is bound to provide means adequate to the [illegible].

[illegible] complex, the means may be distributed and the obligations of duty divided [illegible] to fall short of the object to be accomplished.

[illegible] system, with distributed [illegible] parts but all its parts constitute [illegible] sovereignty, and so of course [illegible] as a whole to furnish complete [illegible].

[illegible] duties are not delegated [illegible] department or branch of the [illegible] must remain in the other.

[illegible] up of delegated and the [illegible] of reserved powers, the duties assigned to the [illegible] can only be co-extensive with the powers delegated, and the duties of the latter must be commensurate with the powers reserved, and those powers adequate to every emergency, not within the scope of the former.

The federal government is one of delegated powers. The State government one of reserved powers. The former competent to act only within [illegible] boundary, the latter exercising all the functions of sovereignty which have not been delegated to the former.

The power to guard and protect the individual liberty of the citizen is one of the powers reserved to the States. It was never granted to the federal government, (except in a very few [illegible] cases which have no bearing upon the present enquiry) has never been claimed for it, but always conceded to the States.

It, therefore, is the duty of the State to guard the individual liberty of its citizens, it [illegible] the right and the power to enquire [illegible] authority by which that liberty is attempted to be taken away. But the power to enquire, includes the power to demand. The right to demand by what authority [illegible] imprisonment is attempted, implies the obligation of the person imprisoning, to respond.— The right to demand such authority on the one hand implies on the other, the duty to exhibit it.

[illegible] have delegated to the federal government the power to imprison its citizens in certain cases, but in none other. So far then as that government acts upon the powers thus delegated, the States cannot interfere [illegible] but in every other case [illegible] the power but it is their [illegible] to interpose their authority. As the power by which the federal government can imprison is a delegated power, it is bound to show, in every case, where it imprisons, that it is acting upon some power delegated. It must [illegible] the bond."

The Constitution of the United States is the [illegible] by written charter, of all the powers delegated to the Federal government. The States severally retain all [illegible] of sovereignty, limited only by the local constitutions prescribed by the people of each.

Therefore, to me it is plain, that when the federal government attempts to act in a given case, it is bound to exhibit a case within its prescribed powers, for, were it otherwise, it would involve the assumption of inherent powers, and [illegible] charter.

As the States delegated, and the Federal government took power, the latter is at all times answerable to the former, and may be required to exhibit the deed, by which it claims to do, or refuse to perform any given act, when so required by the primary original authority.

In the Constitution of the United States sound policy required the incorporation of a function, by which the government thus created might be such in fact, and hence, be enabled to act upon individuals in all of the creative constituent sovereignties. This could only be accomplished by the creation of a judicial department, supreme and independent within its prescribed sphere whose powers should extend to every [illegible]. But in giving up this vital element of sovereignty, the states carefully guarded it, hedged it about, with provisions which it was supposed were impassable. They prescribe its extent in words most carefully selected, whose import could scarcely be mistaken, and beyond which it was supposed no venturesome mind would rush. "The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws and treaties made or which shall be made under their authority, &c." The words "extend to" might perhaps upon the theory of liberal construction be held to be exclusive in their import, were it not for another provision of that instrument which will be presently noticed. But the very selection of the words "extend to," when we consider the extreme caution observed by the members of the convention which framed the Constitution ought to admonish us against a [illegible] assumption of exclusive jurisdiction. That which merely extends to, a particular subject, or class of subjects, cannot upon any legitimate mode of interpretation be considered as comprising the whole of such class to the exclusion of every other power. Several powers may extend to a given class of subjects. But one can comprehend them all. The extension of a power to a subject, by no means merges it exclusively within such power.

But we are relieved from the necessity of [illegible] upon these words, by another provision of the same instrument in the following words.

"This Constitution and the laws of the United States made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States shall be the Supreme law of the land, and the Judges of every State shall be bound thereby, &c."

Here is a direct recognition of the power and duty of State Judges to decide upon, and to conform to, all the requirements of the Federal Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof. If the terms "extend to" in a former provision were intended to be exclusive, and to vest sole and ultimate power in the Federal Courts and Judges, why should the obligation of [illegible] or conformity, be imposed upon State Judges. Why are the Constitution and the laws of the United States "made in pursuance thereof," made the law of every State, and the State Judges bound thereby, unless those subjects were [illegible] to the judicial mind and [illegible] other? And why that careful [illegible] when addressed to State Judges, "the laws of the United States, made in pursuance thereof," unless those officers were required to determine whether or not the laws of the United States were made in pursuance thereof?

It seems to me that here is an express recognition of the judicial power of the States, as extending to all laws of the United States, and a requisition of obedience on the part of State Judges to all the laws of the United States, provided they are made in pursuance of the Constitution of the United States.

This view is strongly fortified by the historical fact, that various attempts were made to create and establish one ultimate-sole tribunal, which should finally decide upon all questions which might arise in the course of Federal and State administration, in regard to the exercise or claim of delegated powers in the Federal Government, on the one hand, or reserved powers in the States on the other.

But the project was found to be impracticable in the then posture of affairs, and the attempt was abandoned, the convention preferring rather to incur the hazard of collision, trusting to the good sense, patriotism, and forbearance of the [illegible] governments and the people, to meet and provide for such emergencies as they might arise, than to create one sole, ultimate tribunal, which might either abstract from, and destroy the efficiency of the one, or absorb all the powers of the other, [illegible] the one a mere league, or the other [illegible] consolidated government, accordingly as direction or bias might come to be given it by temporary exigencies incident to the commencement of a new and untried system.

It is clear, therefore, that the Federal Government can only operate within the prescribed sphere marked out by the Constitution of the United States; That, that government is at all times answerable to the States, so far as to bring their action within their charter: That the judicial power of the Union is as much circumscribed by the Constitution as every other department of the Federal Government: That an Act of Congress without the Constitutional sphere, would be no law: That a judicial determination without the Constitutional sphere, would be no judgment, sentence, or decree: That of the acts of Congress the State Judiciary are bound to judge, whenever they are brought before it, so as to ascertain whether such acts are made in pursuance "of that Constitution, because that judiciary is "bound thereby."

The States never yielded to the Federal Government the guardianship of the liberties of their people. In a few carefully specified instances, they delegated to the Federal Government the power to punish, and so far, and so far only, withdrew their protection. In all else they reserved the power and continued the obligation and duty upon themselves to secure the rights of their citizens, declared to be inalienable, viz:—"life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

It will readily be conceded that the provision which the people have made in their government, for the protection of these rights in them individually, is found in the Judicial department.— That is the arm of sovereignty which they invoke when these rights are individually invaded. Every citizen has the right to appeal to the fundamental charter of both sovereignties to which he is subject, to test the validity of the authority by which his right to liberty is denied. It follows therefore, that the power which he has the right to invoke in his behalf, must profess the right to enquire into the conformity with the authority set up over his natural rights, with the fundamental law. As the State judiciary is the only power to which the guardianship of individual liberty is entrusted, it follows, that it must have the right to enquire into such conformity.

It would seem obvious that this power to enquire has never been surrendered by the States. It is reserved to them and the people thereof.— Hence it is original in the States. If original, then the appropriate means and instrumentalities incident to its exercise, are alike reserved and original. Among such instrumentalities, the writ of Habeas Corpus is especially recognized in the Federal Constitution, and a positive exhibition upon the power of Congress to interfere with its scope and functions, except in specified cases, is carefully inserted. As if it were not enough to restrict the Federal government to the specifically delegated powers; but to render the power of the States more conspicuous, certain and efficacious, for the protection of individual liberty, all power on the part of Congress, to suspend even, the benefits of the writ of Habeas Corpus is expressly denied.

Therefore, so far as the proceeding under this writ is concerned, it is original, and from the necessity of the case, the jurisdiction of it is original in the States, and, as Congress cannot suspend its benefits, it cannot abridge the power and jurisdiction of the State judiciary; it follows that it can grant to no one exemption from the obligation of obedience to its mandates. And it as clearly follows that every individual within the State, no matter by what authority he may claim to act, is bound to obey the writ, because no power on earth can absolve him from his obligation of obedience.

It is sometimes said, that this writ is in the nature of a writ of error, to review the proceedings of an inferior court or magistrate. This is sometimes true. But without stopping here to enquire, whether for the purposes of this writ, the inferior United States Courts be, or be not inferior to State authority, as regards the office of the writ in a proceeding like this, it can hardly partake of the nature of a writ of error. Every sovereign power has a right to enquire into the condition of its subjects, and the authority or causes of their imprisonment. This writ is the appropriate means for such enquiry. When the State uses it to enquire whether the citizen is imprisoned by virtue of a power which it has delegated to another government, it does not bring the proceedings of that government into review; it only seeks to enquire whether the case falls within its own reserved powers. If within the scope of the former, it yields to the paramount authority which it has helped to rest. If not, it disposes of the subject matter according to its own forms of procedure.

The obligations of the State and federal government are herein perceived to be mutual and reciprocal. The one to abstain from interference, whenever it perceives the subject matter to be within the attached jurisdiction of the other, and that other to show that the authority which it claims to exercise is within the powers delegated, and which it may rightfully exercise. There is little danger of troublesome collision so long as each shall be willing to measure its functions by the standard created by the ultimate source of all power. But if, to avoid collision, an absolute unquestioning submission on the one hand is requisite, and on the other a perfect immunity to claim and usurp all power, and to be the sole and ultimate judge of the validity of its own claims, then collision is the preferable alternative, because collision invokes the arbitrament of the ultimate source of all power, the people themselves, whose judgements and decrees are made and pronounced by the peaceful and constitutional means, which they had the wisdom and foresight to provide in the organization of the government. Collisions of this kind are by no means new in this government. They have occurred from time to time, as the supposed exigencies of the country have called into exercise new powers or seemed to require the adoption of new measures. But such collisions have all along our history found their appropriate remedy, in the awakening of enquiry, in a recurrence to primary and fundamental principles, and in a return to the constitutional sphere. And so it will ever be, until one or the other shall rashly and madly rush on to extremities in defiance of Constitutional remedies.

The State Judges and Courts are as much bound to support the Constitution and laws of the United States, as are the Federal Courts and Judges. I cannot yield to the assumption, that the former will be less mindful of their oaths and obligations, than the latter, though I can readily perceive, why the State Judges, may be naturally more mindful of the exact line of demarkation between delegated and reserved powers, because they are under the additional obligation to support the Constitution and rights of the States.

If these views be correct, how stands the present case? It is clearly our duty to grant this writ, to enquire into the cause of the prisoners caption and detention. The return of the respondent sets out such cause. Our next duty is to enquire into this return, in order to ascertain whether the prisoner is held by virtue of any legal authority. It will be conceded that the only rightful authority by which he can be imprisoned must be exercised either by the government of this State, or by that of the United States.— No other earthly power can rightfully interfere with his right to liberty. But it is conceded that he is not held by the authority of this State. The next step in the enquiry is to ascertain whether he is held by any constitutional authority of the Federal Government. Whatever such authority may be, to be of any validity whatever, must clearly appear to be within powers delegated by the Constitution and the laws of the United States made in pursuance thereof.— Any other power attempted to be exercised by any department of the Federal Government would be a manifest usurpation, and of no binding validity. The National Convention that framed the Constitution was exceedingly cautious about conferring criminal jurisdiction upon the national Government, so much so, that an enumeration, of the crimes for which punishment could be provided was carefully made. Congress has however provided for the definition and punishment of numerous other crimes and offences, as necessarily incident to the due execution of powers expressly granted. But all agree, that the Federal Courts can exercise no criminal jurisdiction except in cases specifically prescribed by act of Congress.

Every Act of Congress must be conformable to the Constitution, that is, either the exercise of some power expressly granted, or necessary to the execution of some express power.

I have on another occasion attempted to show that the Act of Congress, approved September 18th, 1850, commonly called the Fugitive Slave Act, was not within the Constitutional power of Congress. I have no time now to enlarge upon the views there presented. But I may be permitted to say, that after careful research, and much reflection, I have not been able to perceive any reason to recede from the positions then taken, but on the contrary it is clear to my mind, that the contrary doctrine, is dangerous to the sovereignty and independence of the States, destructive to the peace and harmony of the Union, and ultimately subversive of the very end and aim contemplated by that enactment. I cannot discharge my duty without again affirming the conclusions to which I then arrived. I cannot hang my conscience upon the suggestions or opinions dictated by the consciences of others. They must judge and act for themselves. So must I. I must be faithful to my trust, as others doubtless are to theirs. But believing as I do that Congress had no power to pass the Act of 1850, that the duties and obligations declared by the Constitution in that respect by the 3d clause of Sec 2 of Act 4 of the Constitution, were imposed upon the States, and all power in relation thereto reserved to the States and the people, I am compelled to hold that the act is unconstitutional and void, and can confer no authority upon the Federal Courts.

This doctrine goes to the jurisdiction of the Court, which attempted to try and sentence this petitioner, which jurisdiction is always subject to enquiry and decision in any other court in which its proceedings may come in question, collaterally or otherwise. This is true of Courts of general original jurisdiction, and much more is it true in regard to the jurisdiction of Courts of inferior, special and limited jurisdiction.

The 2nd clause of the 9th Section of the 1st article of the Constitution of the United States, provides: "The privilege of the writ of Habeas Corpus, shall not be suspended, unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it." The insertion of this clause in the constitution clearly indicates the extreme caution which was exercised by the Members of the National convention, and also the apprehension which they felt lest the power of the States might prove too much for that of the federal government. While on the one hand they obviously intended to leave to the State governments the jurisdiction and control of this high prerogative writ, in all ordinary circumstances, and on all ordinary occasions, on the other, they granted to Congress the power to suspend its privileges whenever there should be manifest an open rebellion against the Federal authority, or an invasion of the national or state territory. The suspension of the privileges of the writ, here referred to could not be held as applying only to the power of the United States Courts to issue it, because such power could be made to extend to but few cases, and, more palpably, because it could hardly be conceived that the national judiciary would ever be found disposed to use the writ in aid of the subversion of the very authority upon the existence of which their own functions depended. Hence it is apparent that the inhibition and the exceptions therefrom, have reference to the State functionaries, and the clause must be regarded as restrictive upon the power of congress to interfere with the authority of the State Judges to issue, hear and determine the writ.

This clause then may be regarded in two aspects, the one as an express reservation to the States of the power and jurisdiction over the writ of Habeas Corpus in all cases whatsoever except on cases of rebellion or invasion, when the public safety might require its suspension, and in such cases, as an absolute grant of power to the Congress to suspend its privileges. But these cases must be declared by Congress before any suspension can be ordered. All this goes to show that the framers of the Constitution not only recognized in the States the general absolute control of the writ, but by the provisions cited, absolutely required obedience to it, on all occasions, and by all persons and functionaries, whether State or Federal, unless Congress should declare the existence of the emergencies wherein it might and should suspend its privileges.

In view of this remarkable provision of the Constitution, it is not a little surprising that a claim is lately set up in behalf of federal officers even of the lowest grade, of entire immunity from any obligation to regard the writ when emanating from State authority, and that jurisdiction of this writ is pertly questioned by inferior ministerial officers, even when issued from the highest judicial tribunal of a sovereign State. However regardless a people may be of encroachments upon the power to which alone they have confided their liberties, it would seem that such pretentions, from such sources, could hardly fail to invite enquiry in regard, not to the rights of sovereignty originally reserved, but in regard to what yet remain, not yet frittered away by thoughtless acquiescence on the one hand, or voluntary surrender on the other.

But it seems to me unnecessary to pursue this subject further. The whole tenor and scope of the Federal Constitution, indicate most clearly that the State judges, and indeed all State officers, were essential to its maintainance and support, and accordingly the very last clause in the instrument requires such officers to be bound by oath or affirmation to support it. Yet the course of reasoning sometimes resorted to, in order to oust the State Judiciary of jurisdiction of a Constitutional question, is based upon the assumption that State Judges, must necessarily be reckless of such obligation, and that fidelity to official duty is only to be expected from Federal Officers.— But this assumption goes too far. It is a weapon with a double edge. The same hypothesis presupposes that Federal judges are utterly unmindful of the restrictions which the Constitution imposes upon federal power, and that they are willing, for the sake of "uniformity" to administer all power, both state and national. Neither assumption is true. The earnest desire of all is, to ascertain the true line of duty, and to act accordingly.

That errors upon both sides must necessarily be committed, is only admitting that the agencies by which each government is administered are human. But those who suppose that error upon the one side or the other must necessarily lead to insurrection, revolution and anarchy, have studied the temper of our people and officers to little purpose. Time, reason, reflection, discussion, forbearance, patriotism, will now as they have done heretofore, prove that the wisdom and intelligence of the parties interested, and especially of the ultimate authority will be found competent to the emergencies which call for their exercise, and equal to the fortune which may put them to the test.

I agree fully with the course of reasoning of my brother Crawford, upon the second branch of this case, viz. that the record of conviction here returned does not show an offence within the jurisdiction of the federal court, even admitting the act of 1850 to be constitutional; and even on that ground alone I should agree to discharge the prisoner. I am permitted and desire to adopt his course of reasoning in that respect, which is so clear and conclusive that further suggestions would be entirely superfluous, I will only say that whatever the Congress may have designed by the 7th Section of the act of 1850 such design can only be discovered from the words of the Statute. If they failed to designate the offence as they intended to do, their defect cannot be supplied by any legislation of a Judicial tribunal. By their own language must their enactment be construed, and if their intentions may be thwarted in consequence of a failure accurately to express them Congress, has the same power to amend that it had originally to enact the Statute.

I have deemed it my duty on this occasion to express my views upon a question which I deem vital to the system on which our government is based. The foundation of my action is broader and deeper than the mere purport of the indictment, though that alone would be sufficient for the present emergencies.

But the question suggests, and indeed upon the argument have been raised questions involving the powers of the Federal and State governments; questions not confined to the particular subject matter of the act of 1850, but questions pervading the entire scope of the two governments, in all of their departments, upon other subjects which may from time to time arise.— And firmly believing that the beneficent designs of the Union can only be realized, and the Union itself only preserved by maintaining the independence and sovereignty of the States intact, in all respects except where they have clearly delegated power, and by confining the Federal Government to powers clearly conferred, I have felt called upon to place my views upon our records, in order that I may discharge my full duty, and that my reasons for the decision to which I have been impelled, may be fully known, and not misapprehended.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, }
SUPREME COURT, } SS.

I Lafayette Kellogg, Clerk of the Supreme Court of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true copy of the opinion of Justice Smith in the above entitled cause, now remaining on file in my office.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Madison this 3d day of February, A. D. 1855.

LAFAYETTE KELLOGG,
Clerk of the Supreme Court
of the State of Wisconsin.

OPINION OF JUSTICE CRAWFORD

In re the petition of JOHN RYCRAFT to be discharged from illegal imprisonment.

Since the decision in the case of Sherman M. Booth, which came before us by certiorari at the last term of this court, I have taken occasion to review the opinion given by me in that case, in order to discover whether I had erred in any of the positions there assumed by me.

That opinion was written during the active duties of a general term, and without an opportunity for very great deliberation. The result of my re-examination of that case, however, has produced no change in my views of it; and so far as the questions then presented are involved in the disposition of the present case, I deem it only necessary to say, that my opinion then given remains unchanged.

The simple question which attracts my attention in this case is, whether the District Court of the United States for this District, had jurisdiction of the offence of which this petitioner was convicted in that court; because, if it had such jurisdiction, it matters not how illegal, unjust or arbitrary the proceedings in that court may have been, nor how many errors may have been committed upon the trial; if the court had jurisdiction of the subject and of the person charged, it is by no means my duty as a judicial officer of this State, to revise the decision or correct the errors of that court, in a case properly within its cognizance. That is the function of a superior federal tribunal, if such revising power were provided or given, or deemed necessary by Congress.

The District Court of the United States for this District, is a court of special or limited jurisdiction. It can take cognizance of offences punishable by the laws of the United States, and of such offences it has exclusive jurisdiction; but it possesses no power to take cognizance of, or punish offences against, the laws of the State. Of these latter, the State tribunals have a jurisdiction equally as exclusive as is the jurisdiction of the federal courts over offences provided for by the laws of Congress. It cannot be necessary to refer to authorities to sustain this position. It is a well-settled principle, that courts of inferior or limited jurisdiction, which do not proceed according to the course of the common law, but derive their special authority from statutory provisions, are confined strictly to the exercise of the powers conferred upon them, and the facts necessary to give them jurisdiction must appear affirmatively on the face of their proceedings, and cannot be presumed.

It is not denied that this principle applies to all mere inferior tribunals, but that it extends to the Circuit and District Courts of the United States has been frequently denied by the Supreme Court of the United States.

In Kempe's Lessee vs. Kennedy, (5 Cranch, 185,) that Court held that "the Courts of the United States are all of limited jurisdiction, and these proceedings are erroneous, if the jurisdiction be not shown upon them. Judgements rendered in such cases may certainly be reversed, but this Court is not prepared to say that they are absolutely nullities which may be totally disregarded." So also in McCormack vs. Sullivan, (10 Wheat. 199,) the same Court in speaking of the inferior Courts of the United States, say: "They are all of limited jurisdiction, but they are not on that account inferior Courts in the technical sense of those words whose judgments, taken alone, are to be disregarded." The same doctrine is illustrated and acted upon in Ex parte Tobias Watkins, (3 Peters, 193,) and in Kennedy et al. vs. Georgia State Bank et al, (8 How. 586,) and the basis of the rule must be found in that presumption of jurisdiction which the law raises, that the solemn adjudications of a Court of Record have been given in cases only in which it had power to act. This presumption certainly applies to all courts of general jurisdiction, and for the purposes of the present case, and in obedience to the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States already cited, we may apply it to the District Court of the United States for this District, but if the record of a judgment or proceeding in that or any other Court whatever, should come before us collaterally, and upon the face of the record, it was apparent that the court had no jurisdiction to render any judgment in the premises, we would not and could not hesitate to disregard it; there the presumption in favor of the validity of the proceedings would be destroyed, and the judgment would have no force. Suppose, for instance, that a judgment record, coming from a court of general jurisdiction, should disclose the fact that without affording the defendant an opportunity to make a defence, and without in any manner citing him to appear, either by service of mesne process or otherwise, the Court had proceeded ex parte, and rendered a judgment against the defendant, surely we would be justified in treating the proceeding as coram non judice.

Now, the return made by the Sheriff of Milwaukee County in this case, contains a record of the proceedings in the District Court, in which this relator was convicted and sentenced, which not only takes away mere presumption but incontestibly shows, that the District Court had no jurisdiction of the subject complained of in the counts of the indictment upon which he was convicted; and if this position be true, we may appropriately use the language of Judge Evans in the case of Hill vs Robertson, (1 Strobhart's Law R. 1). "It would be a waste of words to attempt to prove, that the proceedings of a Court of limited jurisdiction, in a case clearly without its jurisdiction, are absolutely void, and may be so declared, whenever the question is presented, whether directly or collaterally."

The indictment upon which this relator was tried and convicted in the District Court, contained three counts, the first of which may be considered as properly charging an offence within the seventh section of the Act of Congress of Sept. 18, 1850, known as the "Fugitive Slave Law." The second and third counts, however, do not, in my opinion, set forth or charge an offense punishable by any statute of the United States, or of which the District Court has any jurisdiction whatever.

The relator was found guilty as charged in the second and third counts of the indictment, but was not convicted of the offense charged in the first count, so that if the counts on which the conviction took place do not show a case within the jurisdiction of the Court, the conviction and sentence are not only unauthorized by law, but are coram non judice.

The second count charges that "John Rycraft of &c., at &c., on &c., knowingly and wilfully, did aid, abet and assist one Joshua Glover to escape from the custody of Chas. C. Cotton, then and there being a deputy of the Marshal of the United States for the District of Wisconsin, he, the said Joshua Glover, having been theretofore apprehended by, and then and there being in the custody of, the said Cotton," &c.— The count then proceeds to recite the warrant by virtue of which said Glover was apprehended, and which had been issued by the Hon. Andrew G. Miller, Judge of the District Court of the United States. From the recitals contained in the warrant set forth in the indictment, we find that a complaint had been made before Judge Miller, by a person claiming that said Glover owed service and labor to him, the claimant, according to the laws of the State of Missouri, and that upon that complaint the warrant had issued against Glover as a fugitive slave.

The third count is substantially the same as the second, the principal difference being, that it recites the affidavit of the claimant as well as the warrant issued by the District Judge.

The intention, no doubt, was, to set forth in each of these counts, an offense, within the seventh section of the Act of 1850, but in my view of them, they merely charge an aiding, abetting and assisting a person, named Glover, to escape from the custody of Mr. Cotton, a deputy of the Marshal of the United States. Who is this Glover thus aided? or, in other words, from the averments and finding of the Grand Jury, as set forth in these counts, and not from the recitals of the affidavit and warrant therein, what is the kind of person alleged to have been aided? For if it be not shown that he is within the description of person, the aiding in the escape of whom is declared to be an offense, then so far as the Act of 1850 is concerned, these counts charge no offense.

The seventh section provides for the punishment of any person, who shall knowingly and wilfully "aid, abet and assist such person, so owing service and labor, as aforesaid, directly or indirectly, to escape, &c."

Now, it is not the aiding any person to escape which is here provided for, but it is the aiding of a person of a specified status or condition, to wit, one who owes service or labor as aforesaid, and these words most evidently refer back to the commencement of the sixth section, where we find the person described as one "held to service or labor in any State or Territory of the United States." This is the only reasonable construction, which I can place upon the language of this section, for certainly the assisting of a person not owing service or labor in any State or Territory, would not come within this section. Suppose a person, undoubtedly a free man, were in custody, on claim under this law, and without the use of any force or violence he was assisted to escape, how could it be said that the aid had been rendered to a person "so owing service and labor?" To constitute an offense under this, as under any statute, every circumstance necessary to an exact description of the offense, as defined by the statute, must be critically set forth, and the application of this rule to the counts of this indictment, would require that the man Glover should have been described as a person owing service or labor in some State or Territory. By no principle of law can we infer, from the words used in these counts, that Glover owed service or labor—on the contrary, we are bound to suppose that Joshua Glover was equally as free as any other person. If he had been in the custody of the officer, for the violation of some other law of Congress than the Act of 1850, the aiding him to escape would not be an offense within that Act. But from the legitimate averments of these counts, I cannot find a description of any offense for which Glover was in custody—and the gravamen of the charge is merely, that the relator aided Glover to escape from the custody of the deputy-marshal Cotton, which custody was by virtue of process.

The twenty-second section of an Act of Congress aproved April 30th, 1790, defines the offense of resisting or obstructing officers of the United States in the serving of process. The language of that Act is "obstruct, resist, or oppose, any officer of the United States in serving or attempting to serve or execute any mesne process or warrants, or any rule or order of any of the Courts of the United States," &c.

The distinction in my judgment, between the ingredients of the offense of obstructing and hindering an officer in the service of process under the Act of 1790, and the offense of aiding, abetting and assisting a person in legal custody to escape therefrom, (if the latter be really declared to be an offence,) consists in this, that in the former some active interference of the person charged is necessarily involved, while in the latter the end or object may be attained —the aid and assistance afforded, without any connection with or hindrance of the officer or his process. A person in passing beneath the window of a room in which a prisoner is confined, in custody of the Marshal, might cast a key through the open bars or casement, and thereby enable the captive to withdraw the bolts of his prison and escape, but although this wo'd be a grave offense, I apprehend it could not bring the offender within the Act of 1790. It would be an aiding and abetting in an escape, but it could hardly be deemed an obstructing or hindering the officer in the service or execution of process.

The indictment preferred against the relator, however, contained one count (the first) which charged an offense within the jurisdiction of the District Court, and the question whether, inasmuch as that Court had jurisdiction to try the offense charged in the first count, in the indictment it did not thereby acquire a control of the whole case and preclude any inquiry into its power here has engaged my attention.

I am not, upon this writ of habeas corpus, inquiring into a mere question of criminal pleadings—the enquiry is one affecting the jurisdiction and power of the Court, which entertained the indictment before us, and proceeded to verdict and judgment thereon.

I am entirely satisfied, that if the jury had returned a general verdict of guilty on this indictment, the interference of this court with the sentence of the District Court of the United States would have been wholly unwarrantable: because, in that case, there would have been a conviction for an offence within the power of the District Court to try, determine and punish. But the record which constitutes the mittimus before us, shows that the indictment upon which this relator was tried contains one count for an offence within the jurisdiction of the court which tried him, and two counts presenting no crime for which a person could be tried in that court. Upon the first count there has been no conviction, and consequently there can be no punishment; so that the sentence and imprisonment of which the relator now complains, must be for an alleged offence beyond the control or cognizance of the court which imposed that sentence.

If, in the District Court, an indictment were presented, some of the counts of which charged a violation of the revenue laws of the United States, and other counts charged libel, or assault and battery, and upon trial a conviction were obtained on the counts charging libel, or assault and battery, would an imprisonment on such a conviction, where the charge of violating the United States revenue laws had not been sustained by the verdict, be beyond the inquiry of this court?

Would the conviction and sentence in such a case, be the "final judgment" of a court of competent criminal jurisdiction of the offence of which the party was convicted, or would the imprisonment consequent on such a sentence be "by virtue of process issued by any court or judge of the United States, in a case where such court or judge has exclusive jurisdiction?" I cannot think so.

Whenever, in a case like the present one, a writ of habeas corpus issues, directed to a federal officer, and he makes a proper return setting forth the cause or process by which the party is restrained of his liberty or confined, I conceive it to be the duty and within the legitimate power of this court, or the officer before whom the writ is made returnable, to examine as well the process by which, as the cause for which, the party is restrained or imprisoned. If the process be such as might be issued by the tribunal or officer who issued it and the cause or matter in which the proceedings were taken, be within the authority or power or jurisdiction of the court or officer, then there is a plain duty imposed upon the court or officer who issued the writ of habeas corpus, to remand the party; but if on the contrary, the process or warrant for the imprisonment be unauthorized or the subject matter upon which the party has been deprived of his liberty, be not within the authority or cognizance of the court or officer who has assumed to act, then it is equally incumbent on us to discharge the party.

The Constitution of this State, (art 1, sec. 8) secures to every person within the State the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, and the use of that writ is adapted to all cases of illegal restraint or confinement. The Justices of this Court as well as judicial officers of the State, who are vested with the power of awarding this writ, would be recreant to the duty imposed upon them, and to the trust reposed in them by the people, if in any case of illegal restraint in which they have power to act, they hesitated to perform the requirements of the Constitution and laws of the State, by using this writ as a means to see that no person within the boundaries of this State shall be deprived of his personal liberty without the authority of law. If this were not so the utility of the writ of habeas corpus would not only be greatly invaded, but in many instances it would become a name without a substance. It is idle to say that the use of the writ to this extent may be productive of dangerous consequences, or result in any serious collision between the Federal and the State officers. So long as the functionaries of these respective powers are true to the obligation and duties imposed upon them—so long as they are careful not to transcend the limits and scope prescribed to them, there is no danger to be apprehended. If either, indeed, should assume to act in derogation of the prerogative of the other, a means of correcting the evil would be very necessary, but we are not without that corrective. An unwarrantable infraction of the jurisdiction of the State tribunals by the Federal Courts, would call forth an assertion of their prerogatives and power by the State Courts, and if in this the latter were wrong, a peaceful means of redress is afforded by a resort to the Court of dernier resort, the Supreme Court of the United States, whose decisions should and would be acquiesced in by all parties.

Viewing this case as it is presented by the return, I am of the opinion, that the relator is entitled to be discharged from the custody of the Sheriff of Milwaukee County, inasmuch as the record of conviction and sentence from the District Court of the United States for this District, by which his imprisonment is sought to be justified, presents no conviction and sentence of an offence which that Court had jurisdiction over.

On the argument of this case the Counsel for the relator insisted upon a distinct ground for the discharge.

It was that the act of Sept 18th, 1850, was entirely unconstitutional and void. A correct understanding of the views of that question, taken and expressed by the several members of this court at the last term, would perhaps have rendered it unnecessary to urge this point in the present case. I need only remark that upon this question we each entertain the opinion then expressed.

The case of Sherman M. Booth, which was argued and considered in connection with this case, is substansially disposed of in the foregoing opinion. The defect of jurisdiction in the U. S. District Court is equally patent in his case, and therefore I believe he is entitled to be released from imprisonment.

USE THE Magic Impression Paper!

For Writing without Pen or Ink, Copying Leaves, Plants, Flowers, Pictures, Patterns for Embroideries, Marking Linen Indelibly, and

MANIFOLD WRITING.

THIS ARTICLE IS ABSOLUTELY THE BEST PORTABLE Inkstand in the known world, for a small quantity folded and placed in the pocket constitutes a traveling inkstand which cannot be broken. No pen is needed, for any stick sharpened to a point, writes equally as well as the best gold pen in the universe. For drawing it is indispensable. It is, indeed, the whole art of Drawing and Painting—taught in ONE LESSON. Any leaf, plant or flower can be transferred to the pages of an album with a minute and distinct resemblance of nature. With equal facility, pictures and embroidery patterns are taken, and have received the highest eulogiums from the fair sex; and, indeed, a more tasteful present for a lady could not be produced.

This Magic Paper will also mark Linen, or other articles, so as to remain perfectly indelible. All the washing in the world fails to bring it out. Any child can use it with perfect ease. With this Magic Paper, likewise, one or four copies of every letter written can be secured without any additional labor whatever, making it the cheapest article extant. It is used to great advantage by reporters of the public press, telegraphic operators and hosts of others.

Each package contains four different colors—Black, Blue, Green, and Red, with full and printed instructions, for ALL to use, and will last sufficiently long to obtain Five Hundred distinct Impressions.

It is put up in beautifully enamelled, colored envelopes, with a truthful likeness of the Proprietor attached. Each and every package warranted.

PRICE—$2 a Dozen; or, Five for One Dollar. Single Packages, 25 Cents. Address, post-paid,

N. HUBBELL, 167 Broadway, N. Y.

THE UNDERSIGNED WOULD RESPECTFULLY announce to the Public, that he has opened, on

Spring Street, Opposite the American House,

A NEW

PIANO FORTE WARE-ROOM!

Where he will keep on hand a good assortment of the celebrated

AMERICAN ACTION PIANO FORTES,

Manufactured by GEORGE HEWS, of Boston, Mass.

The Patent American Action Piano Forte is distinguished for its great fullness, richness and sweetness of tone, evenness of scale, and delicacy of touch. The improvement in the Action renders it less liable to derangement, and also greatly facilitates execution. Numerous medals, diplomas and certificates have been received from various fairs and industrial exhibitions in different cities of the Union, from the World's Fair at London, and flattering testimonials from the profession, residents at Boston, and elsewhere, among which are the following:

From the illustrious Pianist, L. M. GOTTSCHALK, to Mr Hews, Agent at New York:

New York, Dec. 5, 1841.

MR. N. J. CURTISS:—

Dear Sir: Having had the pleasure of performing upon Geo Hews' American Action Piano, at the World's Fair in this city the present year, and other of his Pianos at your Wareroom, which afforded me much gratification, I cheerfully recommend them to the public. I am very glad of the improvement in the action. These instruments likewise are of excellent tone, owing, no doubt, to the perfection of the scales.

Very Respectfully, L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

From the distinguished Pianist, WILLIAM MASON:

MR. HEWS:—Having repeatedly played upon the Piano Fortes manufactured by you, with the American Action, I am free to acknowledge, that for certainty and elasticity of action, power, purity and equality of tone, I have never seen them surpassed in the square Piano Forte.

WILLIAM MASON.

Purchasers and lovers of music in general, are respectfully invited to call and examine these instruments. These Pianos will be sold at Boston prices, and warranted to give satisfaction in every respect.

☞ Pianos to Let. Old Pianos taken in exchange, and liberal prices allowed.

☞ Pianos Tuned and Repaired.

THE ABOVE CUT REPRESENTS MY

CORN AND COB MILL,

With two horses on one of the levers; there should be one on each. I was here at the State Fair, and promised a number that I should be here soon to reside and manufacture these Mills, and give them notice through the papers, and after supplying a few immediate customers, I am now prepared to furnish to those that may favor me with a call.

I shall have one constantly on hand to exhibit, or for use, free of charge.

COME AND TRY IT.

Warranted to be durable, and will keep them in repair free of charge.

The Mill weighs about four hundred pounds. I furnish the Mill, Hopper, bolts, all except the box and poles, and these will not cost to exceed five dollars, with directions in full.

Two Good Horses will grind from 8 to 10 bushels Corn Cob per hour, fine enough for feed; and 4 bushels of Shelled Corn, or with a mixture of Oats, in the same time with one horse.

I am manufacturing at

VOLUME XI. MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL. N[illegible]

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

Opinion by Justice Smith,

In the matter of the petition of JOHN RYCRAFT for a writ of Habeas Corpus and to be discharged from imprisonment and in the matter of SHERMAN M. BOOTH.

The facts in these two cases are essentially the same, and so far as the observations, which I feel called upon to make may be uttered, they will be regarded as applying to both, and therefore for the sake of convenience reference will be made to the petition of Rycraft only.

On the application of Sherman M. Booth at the last term of this Court for a writ of Habeas Corpus, [illegible] of the indictment was presented, [illegible] a copy of the warrant upon which he had been arrested, which recited merely that he had been indicted under the Act of Congress of 1850 for aiding the escape of one Joshua Glover, [illegible]. This was an ordinary Bench Warrant, to bring in a defendant to answer to an indictment found in the United States District Court, and it appearing [illegible] (and indeed without an inspection of the indictment we could not interfere with the regular action of that Court) [illegible] was bound to presume, that if the [illegible] the proper time it should be [illegible] for examination, failed to present a case of which that Court had jurisdiction, or charged no offence at all, the Court in which it was returned would so decide, and that all such questions were preliminarily within the proper scope of the power of that Court. But now the case is different, and those questions have been [illegible] urged and without avail; and the petitioner comes before us and shows, by the return of the officer, that he has been pressed on to a conviction, and sentenced to imprisonment, and is now actually imprisoned, within this State, and that the sole authority therefor, is a transcript of the record of such conviction.

Then the fundamental question which the case presents, is: Has this Court the power to [illegible] the legality of the authority by which the prisoner is held?

It seems to me, that the solution to this question [illegible] a few simple, elementary [illegible] which require little or no proof or [illegible].

[illegible] of Government to protect and secure the rights of the citizen, among which is [illegible].

The duty of the Government, is to be measured [illegible] of the individual right, and it is bound to provide means adequate to the [illegible].

[illegible] complex, the means may be [illegible] the obligations of duty divided [illegible] to fall short of the object to be [illegible].

[illegible] system, with distributed [illegible] parts but all its parts constitute [illegible] sovereignty, and so of course [illegible] as a whole to furnish complete [illegible].

[illegible] duties are not delegated [illegible] department or branch of the [illegible] must remain in the other.

[illegible] made up of delegated and the [illegible] of reserved powers, the duties assigned to the [illegible] can only be co-extensive with the powers delegated, and the duties of the latter must be commensurate with the powers reserved, and those powers adequate to every emergency, not within the scope of the former.

The Federal Government is one of delegated powers, the State Government one of reserved powers. The former competent to act only within its prescribed boundary, the latter exercising all the functions of sovereignty which have not been delegated to the former.

The power to guard and protect the individual liberty of the citizen is one of the powers reserved to the States. It was never granted to the Federal government, (except in a very few [illegible] cases which have no bearing upon the present enquiry,) has never been claimed for it, [illegible] always conceded to the States.

If, therefore, it is the duty of the State to guard the individual liberty of its citizens, it [illegible] have the right and the power to [illegible] every authority by which that liberty is attempted to be taken away. But the power to enquire includes the power to decide. The right to demand by what authority [illegible] imprisonment is attempted, implies the obligation of the person imprisoning, to respond.— The right to demand such authority on the one hand implies on the other, the duty to exhibit it.

[illegible] have delegated to the federal government the power to imprison its citizens in certain cases, but in none other. So far then as that government acts upon the powers thus delegated, the States cannot interfere to protect their citizens but in every other case they not only have the power but it is their solemn duty to interpose their authority. As the power by which the federal government can imprison is a delegated power, it is bound to show, in every case, where it imprisons, that it is acting upon some power delegated. It must [illegible] the bond."

The Constitution of the United States is the [illegible], [illegible] by written charter, of all the powers delegated to the Federal government. The States severally retain all [illegible] of sovereignty, limited only by the local constitutions prescribed by the people of each.

Therefore, to me it is plain, that when the federal government attempts to act in a given case, it is bound to exhibit a case within its prescribed powers, for, were it otherwise, it would involve the assumption of inherent powers, and [illegible] its charter.

[illegible] delegated, and the federal government took power, the latter is at all times answerable to the former, and may be required to exhibit the deed, by which it claims to do, or refuse to perform any given act, when so required by the primary [illegible] authority.

In the Constitution of the United States sound policy required the incorporation of a function, by which the government thus created might be such in fact, and be [illegible], be enabled to act upon individuals in all of the creative constituent sovereignties. This could only be accomplished by the creation of a judicial department, supreme and independent within its prescribed sphere whose process should extend to every [illegible]. But in giving up this vital element of sovereignty, the States carefully guarded it, hedged it about, with provisions which it was supposed were impassable. They prescribe its extent in words most carefully selected, whose import could scarcely be mistaken, and beyond which it was supposed no [illegible] would rush. "The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws and treaties made or which shall be made under their authority, &c." The words "extend to" might perhaps upon the theory of liberal construction be held to be exclusive in their import, were it not for another provision of that instrument which will be presently noticed. But the very selection of the words "extend to," when we consider the extreme caution observed by the members of the convention which framed the Constitution ought to admonish us against a [illegible] assumption of exclusive jurisdiction. That which merely extends to, a particular subject, or class of subjects, cannot upon any legitimate mode of interpretation be considered as comprising the whole of such class to the exclusion of every other power. Several powers may extend to a given class of subjects. But one can comprehend them all. The extension of a power to a subject, by no means merges it exclusively within such power.

But we are relieved from the necessity of [illegible] upon these words, by another provision of the same instrument in the following words, "This Constitution and the laws of the United States made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made under the authority of the United States shall be the Supreme law of the land, and the Judges of every State shall be bound thereby, &c."

Here is a distinct recognition of the power and duty of State Judges to decide upon, and to conform to, all the requirements of the Federal Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof. If the terms "extend to" in a former provision were intended to be exclusive, and to vest sole and ultimate power in the Federal Courts and Judges, why should the obligation of conformity or obedience or conformity, be imposed upon State Judges? Why are the Constitution and the laws of the United States "made in pursuance thereof," made the law of every State, and the State Judges bound thereby, unless those [illegible] to the judicial mind and [illegible]? And why that careful phrase when addressed to State Judges, "the laws of the United States, made in pursuance thereof," unless those officers were required to determine whether or not the laws of the United States were made in pursuance thereof?

It seems to me that here is an express recognition of the judicial power of the States, as extending to all laws of the United States, and a [illegible] of obedience on the part of State Judges to all the laws of the United States, provided they are made in pursuance of the Constitution of the United States.

This view is strongly fortified by the historical fact, that various attempts were made to create and establish one ultimate sole tribunal, which should finally decide upon all questions which might arise in the course of Federal and State administration, in regard to the exercise or claim of delegated powers in the Federal Government, on the one hand, or reserved powers in the States on the other.

But the project was found to be impracticable in the then posture of affairs, and the attempt was abandoned, the convention preferring rather to incur the hazard of collision, trusting to the good sense, patriotism, and forbearance of the two governments and the people, to meet and provide for such emergencies as they might arise, than to create one sole, ultimate tribunal, which might either abstract from, and destroy the efficiency of the one, or absorb all the powers of the other, [illegible] a mere league, or the other [illegible] dependent colonies of a consolidated government, as might by its direction or bias [illegible] to be given it by temporary exigencies incident to the commencement of a new and untried system.

It is clear, therefore, that the Federal Government can only operate within the prescribed sphere marked out by the Constitution of the United States; That, that government is at all times answerable to the States, so far as to bring their action within their charter: That the judicial power of the Union is as much circumscribed by the Constitution as every other department of the Federal Government: That an Act of Congress without the Constitutional sphere, would be no law: That a judicial determination without the Constitutional sphere, would be no judgment, sentence, or decree: That of the acts of Congress the State Judiciary are bound to judge, whenever they are brought before it, so as to ascertain whether such acts are made in pursuance "of that Constitution, because that judiciary is "bound thereby."

The States never yielded to the Federal Government the guardianship of the liberties of their people. In a few carefully specified instances, they delegated to the Federal Government the power to punish, and so far, and so far only withdrew their protection. In all else they reserved the power and continued the obligation and duty upon themselves to secure the rights of their citizens, declared to be inalienable, viz:—"life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

It will readily be conceded that the provision which the people have made in their government for the protection of these rights in them individually, is found in the Judicial department.—That is the arm of sovereignty which they invoke when these rights are individually invaded. Every citizen has the right to appeal to the fundamental charter of both sovereignties to which he is subject, to test the validity of the authority by which his right to liberty is denied. It follows therefore, that the power which he has the right to invoke in his behalf, must possess the right to enquire into the conformity with the authority set up over his natural rights, with the fundamental law. As the State judiciary is the only power to which the guardianship of individual liberty is entrusted, it follows, that it must have the right to enquire into such conformity.

It would seem obvious that this power to enquire has never been surrendered by the States. It is reserved to them and the people thereof.—Hence it is original in the States. If original, then the appropriate means and instrumentalities incident to its exercise, are alike reserved and original. Among such instrumentalities, the writ of Habeas Corpus is especially recognized in the Federal Constitution, and a positive exhibition upon the power of Congress to interfere with its scope and functions, except in specified cases, is carefully inserted. As if it were not enough to restrict the Federal government to the specifically delegated powers; but to render the power of the States more conspicuous, certain and efficacious, for the protection of individual liberty, all power on the part of Congress, to suspend even, the benefits of the writ of Habeas Corpus is expressly denied.

Therefore, so far as the proceeding under this writ is concerned, it is original, and from the necessity of the case, the jurisdiction of it is original in the States, and as Congress cannot suspend its benefits, it cannot abridge the power and jurisdiction of the State judiciary; it follows that it can grant to no one exemption from the obligation of obedience to its mandates. And it as clearly follows that every individual within the State, no matter by what authority he may claim to act, is bound to obey the writ, because no power on earth can absolve him from his obligation of obedience.

It is sometimes said, that this writ is in the nature of a writ of error, to review the proceedings of an inferior court or magistrate. This is sometimes true. But without stopping here to enquire, whether for the purposes of this writ, the inferior United States Courts be, or be not inferior to State authority, as regards the office of the writ in a proceeding like this, it can hardly partake of the nature of a writ of error. Every sovereign power has a right to enquire into the condition of its subjects, and the authority or causes of their imprisonment. This writ is the appropriate means for such enquiry. When the State uses it to enquire whether the citizen is imprisoned by virtue of a power which it has delegated to another government, it does not bring the proceedings of that government into review; it only seeks to enquire whether the case falls within its own reserved powers. If within the scope of the former, it yields to the paramount authority which it has helped to rest. If not, it disposes of the subject matter according to its own forms of procedure.

The obligations of the State and federal government are herein perceived to be mutual and reciprocal. The one to abstain from interference, whenever it perceives the subject matter to be within the attached jurisdiction of the other, and that other to show that the authority which it claims to exercise is within the powers delegated, and which it may rightfully exercise. There is little danger of troublesome collision so long as each shall be willing to measure its functions by the standard created by the ultimate source of all power. But if, to avoid collision, an absolute unquestioning submission on the one hand is requisite, and on the other a perfect immunity to claim and usurp all power, and to be the sole and ultimate judge of the validity of its own claims, then collision is the preferable alternative, because collision invokes the arbitrament of the ultimate source of all power, the people themselves, whose judgements and decrees are made and pronounced by the peaceful and constitutional means, which they had the wisdom and foresight to provide in the organization of the government. Collisions of this kind are by no means new in this government. They have occurred from time to time, as the supposed exigencies of the country have called into exercise new powers or seemed to require the adoption of new measures. But such collisions have all along our history found their appropriate remedy, in the awakening of enquiry, in a recurrence to primary and fundamental principles, and in a return to the constitutional sphere. And so it will ever be, until one or the other shall rashly and madly rush on to extremities in defiance of Constitutional remedies.

The State Judges and Courts are as much bound to support the Constitution and laws of the United States, as are the Federal Courts and Judges. I cannot yield to the assumption, that the former will be less mindful of their oaths and obligations, than the latter, though I can readily perceive, why the State Judges, may be naturally more mindful of the exact line of demarkation between delegated and reserved powers, because they are under the additional obligation to support the Constitution and rights of the States.

If these views be correct, how stands the present case? It is clearly our duty to grant this writ, to enquire into the cause of the prisoners caption and detention. The return of the respondent sets out such cause. Our next duty is to enquire into this return, in order to ascertain whether the prisoner is held by virtue of any legal authority. It will be conceded that the only rightful authority by which he can be imprisoned must be exercised either by the government of this State, or by that of the United States.—No other earthly power can rightfully interfere with his right to liberty. But it is conceded that he is not held by the authority of this State. The next step in the enquiry is to ascertain whether he is held by any constitutional authority of the Federal Government. Whatever such authority may be, to be of any validity whatever, must clearly appear to be within powers delegated by the Constitution and the laws of the United States made in pursuance thereof.—Any other power attempted to be exercised by any department of the Federal Government would be a manifest usurpation, and of no binding validity. The National Convention that framed the Constitution was exceedingly cautious about conferring criminal jurisdiction upon the national Government, so much so, that an enumeration, of the crimes for which punishment could be provided was carefully made. Congress has however provided for the definition and punishment of numerous other crimes and offences, as necessarily incident to the due execution of powers expressly granted. But all agree, that the Federal Courts can exercise no criminal jurisdiction except in cases specifically prescribed by act of Congress.

Every Act of Congress must be conformable to the Constitution, that is, either the exercise of some power expressly granted, or necessary to the execution of some express power.

I have on another occasion attempted to show that the Act of Congress, approved September 18th, 1850, commonly called the Fugitive Slave Act, was not within the Constitutional power of Congress. I have no time now to enlarge upon the views there presented. But I may be permitted to say, that after careful research, and much reflection, I have not been able to perceive any reason to recede from the positions then taken, but on the contrary it is clear to my mind, that the contrary doctrine, is dangerous to the sovereignty and independence of the States, destructive to the peace and harmony of the Union, and ultimately subversive of the very end and aim contemplated by that enactment. I cannot discharge my duty without again affirming the conclusions to which I then arrived. I cannot hang my conscience upon the suggestions or opinions dictated by the consciences of others. They must judge and act for themselves. So must I. I must be faithful to my trust, as others doubtless are to theirs. But believing as I do that Congress had no power to pass the Act of 1850, that the duties and obligations declared by the Constitution in that respect by the 3d clause of Sec 2 of Act 4 of the Constitution, were imposed upon the States, and all power in relation thereto reserved to the States and the people, I am compelled to hold that the act is unconstitutional and void, and can confer no authority upon the Federal Courts.

This doctrine goes to the jurisdiction of the Court, which attempted to try and sentence this petitioner, which jurisdiction is always subject to enquiry and decision in any other court in which its proceedings may come in question, collaterally or otherwise. This is true of Courts of general original jurisdiction, and much more is it true in regard to the jurisdiction of Courts of inferior, special and limited jurisdiction.

The 2nd clause of the 9th Section of the 1st article of the Constitution of the United States, provides: "The privilege of the writ of Habeas Corpus, shall not be suspended, unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it." The insertion of this clause in the constitution clearly indicates the extreme caution which was exercised by the Members of the National convention, and also the apprehension which they felt lest the power of the States might prove too much for that of the federal government. While on the one hand they obviously intended to leave to the State governments the jurisdiction and control of this high prerogative writ, in all ordinary circumstances, and on all ordinary occasions, on the other, they granted to Congress the power to suspend its privileges whenever there should be manifest an open rebellion against the Federal authority, or an invasion of the national or state territory. The suspension of the privileges of the writ, here referred to could not be held as applying only to the power of the United States Courts to issue it, because such power could be made to extend to but few cases, and, more palpably, because it could hardly be conceived that the national judiciary would ever be found disposed to use the writ in aid of the subversion of the very authority upon the existence of which their own functions depended. Hence it is apparent that the inhibition and the exceptions therefrom, have reference to the State functionaries, and the clause must be regarded as restrictive upon the power of congress to interfere with the authority of the State Judges to issue, hear and determine the writ.

This clause then may be regarded in two aspects, the one as an express reservation to the States of the power and jurisdiction over the writ of Habeas Corpus in all cases whatsoever except on cases of rebellion or invasion, when the public safety might require its suspension, and in such cases, as an absolute grant of power to the Congress to suspend its privileges. But these cases must be declared by Congress before any suspension can be ordered. All this goes to show that the framers of the Constitution not only recognized in the States the general absolute control of the writ, but by the provisions cited, absolutely required obedience to it, on all occasions, and by all persons and functionaries, whether State or Federal, unless Congress should declare the existence of the emergencies wherein it might and should suspend its privileges.

In view of this remarkable provision of the Constitution, it is not a little surprising that a claim is lately set up in behalf of federal officers even of the lowest grade, of entire immunity from any obligation to regard the writ when emanating from State authority, and that jurisdiction of this writ is pertly questioned by inferior ministerial officers, even when issued from the highest judicial tribunal of a sovereign State. However regardless a people may be of encroachments upon the power to which alone they have confided their liberties, it would seem that such pretentions, from such sources, could hardly fail to invite enquiry in regard, not to the rights of sovereignty originally reserved, but in regard to what yet remain, not yet frittered away by thoughtless acquiescence on the one hand, or voluntary surrender on the other.

But it seems to me unnecessary to pursue this subject further. The whole tenor and scope of the Federal Constitution, indicate most clearly that the State judges, and indeed all State officers, were essential to its maintainance and support, and accordingly the very last clause in the instrument requires such officers to be bound by oath or affirmation to support it. Yet the course of reasoning sometimes resorted to, in order to oust the State Judiciary of jurisdiction of a Constitutional question, is based upon the assumption that State Judges, must necessarily be reckless of such obligation, and that fidelity to official duty is only to be expected from Federal Officers.—But this assumption goes too far. It is a weapon with a double edge. The same hypothesis presupposes that Federal judges are utterly unmindful of the restrictions which the Constitution imposes upon federal power, and that they are willing, for the sake of "uniformity" to administer all power, both state and national. Neither assumption is true. The earnest desire of all is, to ascertain the true line of duty, and to act accordingly.

That errors upon both sides must necessarily be committed, is only admitting that the agencies by which each government is administered are human. But those who suppose that error upon the one side or the other must necessarily lead to insurrection, revolution and anarchy, have studied the temper of our people and officers to little purpose. Time, reason, reflection, discussion, forbearance, patriotism, will now as they have done heretofore, prove that the wisdom and intelligence of the parties interested, and especially of the ultimate authority will be found competent to the emergencies which call for their exercise, and equal to the fortune which may put them to the test.

I agree fully with the course of reasoning of my brother Crawford, upon the second branch of this case, viz. that the record of conviction here returned does not show an offence within the jurisdiction of the federal court, even admitting the act of 1850 to be constitutional; and even on that ground alone I should agree to discharge the prisoner. I am permitted and desire to adopt his course of reasoning in that respect, which is so clear and conclusive that further suggestions would be entirely superfluous, I will only say that whatever the Congress may have designed by the 7th Section of the act of 1850 such design can only be discovered from the words of the Statute. If they failed to designate the offence as they intended to do, their defect cannot be supplied by any legislation of a judicial tribunal. By their own language must their enactment be construed, and if their intentions may be thwarted in consequence of a failure accurately to express them, Congress, has the same power to amend that it had originally to enact the Statute.

I have deemed it my duty on this occasion to express my views upon a question which I deem vital to the system on which our government is based. The foundation of my action is broader and deeper than the mere purport of the indictment, though that alone would be sufficient for the present emergencies.

But the question suggests, and indeed upon the argument have been raised questions involving the powers of the Federal and State governments; questions not confined to the particular subject matter of the act of 1850, but questions pervading the entire scope of the two governments, in all of their departments, upon other subjects which may from time to time arise.—And firmly believing that the beneficent designs of the Union can only be realized, and the Union itself only preserved by maintaining the independence and sovereignty of the States intact, in all respects except where they have clearly delegated power, and by confining the Federal Government to powers clearly conferred, I have felt called upon to place my views upon our records, in order that I may discharge my full duty, and that my reasons for the decision to which I have been impelled, may be fully known, and not misapprehended.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, }
SUPREME COURT, } SS.

I Lafayette Kellogg, Clerk of the Supreme Court of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true copy of the opinion of Justice Smith in the above entitled cause, now remaining on file in my office.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Madison this 3d day of February, A. D. 1855.

LAFAYETTE KELLOGG,
Clerk of the Supreme Court
of the State of Wisconsin.

OPINION OF JUSTICE CRAWFORD

In re the petition of JOHN RYCRAFT to be discharged from illegal imprisonment.

Since the decision in the case of Sherman M. Booth, which came before us by certiorari at the last term of this court, I have taken occasion to review the opinion given by me in that case, in order to discover whether I had erred in any of the positions there assumed by me.

That opinion was written during the active duties of a general term, and without an opportunity for very great deliberation. The result of my re-examination of that case, however, has produced no change in my views of it; and so far as the questions then presented are involved in the disposition of the present case, I deem it only necessary to say, that my opinion then given remains unchanged.

The simple question which attracts my attention in this case is, whether the District Court of the United States for this District, had jurisdiction of the offence of which this petitioner was convicted in that court; because, if it had such jurisdiction, it matters not how illegal, unjust or arbitrary the proceedings in that court may have been, nor how many errors may have been committed upon the trial; if the court had jurisdiction of the subject and of the person charged, it is by no means my duty as a judicial officer of this State, to revise the decision or correct the errors of that court, in a case properly within its cognizance. That is the function of a superior federal tribunal, if such revising power were provided or given, or deemed necessary by Congress.

The District Court of the United States for this District, is a court of special or limited jurisdiction. It can take cognizance of offences punishable by the laws of the United States, and of such offences it has exclusive jurisdiction; but it possesses no power to take cognizance of, or punish offences against, the laws of the State. Of these latter, the State tribunals have a jurisdiction equally as exclusive as is the jurisdiction of the federal courts over offences provided for by the laws of Congress. It cannot be necessary to refer to authorities to sustain this position. It is a well-settled principle, that courts of inferior or limited jurisdiction, which do not proceed according to the course of the common law, but derive their special authority from statutory provisions, are confined strictly to the exercise of the powers conferred upon them, and the facts necessary to give them jurisdiction must appear affirmatively on the face of their proceedings, and cannot be presumed.

It is not denied that this principle applies to all mere inferior tribunals, but that it extends to the Circuit and District Courts of the United States has been frequently denied by the Supreme Court of the United States.

In Kempe's Lessee vs. Kennedy, (5 Cranch, 185,) that Court held that "the Courts of the United States are all of limited jurisdiction, and these proceedings are erroneous, if the jurisdiction be not shown upon them. Judgments rendered in such cases may certainly be reversed, but this Court is not prepared to say that they are absolutely nullities which may be totally disregarded." So also in McCormick vs. Sullivan, (10 Wheat. 199,) the same Court in speaking of the inferior Courts of the United States, says: "They are all of limited jurisdiction, but they are not on that account inferior Courts in the technical sense of those words whose judgments, taken alone, are to be disregarded." The same doctrine is illustrated and acted upon in Ex parte Tobias Watkins, (3 Peters, 193,) and in Kennedy et al. vs. Georgia State Bank et al., (8 How. 586,) and the basis of the rule must be found in that presumption of jurisdiction which the law raises, that the solemn adjudications of a Court of Record have been given in cases only in which it has power to act. This presumption certainly applies to all courts of general jurisdiction, and for the purposes of the present case, and in obedience to the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States already cited, we may apply it to the District Court of the United States for this District, but if the record of a judgment or proceeding in that or any other Court whatever, should come before us collaterally, and upon the face of the record, it was apparent that the court had no jurisdiction to render any judgment in the premises, we would not and could not hesitate to disregard it; there the presumption in favor of the validity of the proceedings would be destroyed, and the judgment would have no force. Suppose, for instance, that a judgment record, coming from a court of general jurisdiction, should disclose the fact that without affording the defendant an opportunity to make a defence, and without in any manner citing him to appear, either by service of mesne process or otherwise, the Court had proceeded ex parte, and rendered a judgment against the defendant, surely we would be justified in treating the proceeding as coram non judice.

Now, the return made by the Sheriff of Milwaukee County in this case, contains a record of the proceedings in the District Court, in which this relator was convicted and sentenced, which not only takes away mere presumption but incontestibly shows, that the District Court had no jurisdiction of the subject complained of in the counts of the indictment upon which he was convicted; and if this position be true, we may appropriately use the language of Judge Evans in the case of Hill vs Robertson, (1 Strobhart's Law R. 1). "It would be a waste of words to attempt to prove, that the proceedings of a Court of limited jurisdiction, in a case clearly without its jurisdiction, are absolutely void, and may be so declared, whenever the question is presented, whether directly or collaterally."

The indictment upon which this relator was tried and convicted in the District Court, contained three counts, the first of which may be considered as properly charging an offence within the seventh section of the Act of Congress of Sept. 18, 1850, known as the "Fugitive Slave Law." The second and third counts, however, do not, in my opinion, set forth or charge an offense punishable by any statute of the United States, or of which the District Court has any jurisdiction whatever.

The relator was found guilty as charged in the second and third counts of the indictment, but was not convicted of the offense charged in the first count, so that if the counts on which the conviction took place do not show a case within the jurisdiction of the Court, the conviction and sentence are not only unauthorized by law, but are coram non judice.

The second count charges that "John Rycraft of &c., at &c., on &c., knowingly and willfully, did aid, abet and assist one Joshua Glover to escape from the custody of Chas. C. Cotton, then and there being a deputy of the Marshal of the United States for the District of Wisconsin, he, the said Joshua Glover, having been theretofore apprehended by, and then and there being in the custody of, the said Cotton," &c.—The count then proceeds to recite the warrant by virtue of which said Glover was apprehended, and which had been issued by the Hon. Andrew G. Miller, Judge of the District Court of the United States. From the recitals contained in the warrant set forth in the indictment, we find that a complaint had been made before Judge Miller, by a person claiming that said Glover owed service and labor to him, the claimant, according to the laws of the State of Missouri, and that upon that complaint the warrant had issued against Glover as a fugitive slave.

The third count is substantially the same as the second, the principal difference being, that it recites the affidavit of the claimant as well as the warrant issued by the District Judge.

The intention, no doubt, was, to set forth in each of these counts, an offense, within the seventh section of the Act of 1850, but in my view of them, they merely charge an aiding, abetting and assisting a person, named Glover, to escape from the custody of Mr. Cotton, a deputy of the Marshal of the United States. Who is this Glover thus aided? or, in other words, from the averments and finding of the Grand Jury, as set forth in these counts, and not from the recitals of the affidavit and warrant therein, what is the kind of person alleged to have been aided? For if it be not shown that he is within the description of person, the aiding in the escape of whom is declared to be an offense, then so far as the Act of 1850 is concerned, these counts charge no offense.

The seventh section provides for the punishment of any person, who shall knowingly and wilfully "aid, abet and assist such person, so owing service and labor, as aforesaid, directly or indirectly, to escape, &c."

Now, it is not the aiding any person to escape which is here provided for, but it is the aiding of a person of a specified status or condition, to wit, one who owes service or labor as aforesaid, and these words most evidently refer back to the commencement of the sixth section, where we find the person described as one "held to service or labor in any State or Territory of the United States." This is the only reasonable construction, which I can place upon the language of this section, for certainly the assisting of a person not owing service or labor in any State or Territory, would not come within this section. Suppose a person, undoubtedly a free man, were in custody, on claim under this law, and without the use of any force or violence he was assisted to escape, how could it be said that the aid had been rendered to a person "so owing service and labor?" To constitute an offense under this, as under any statute, every circumstance necessary to an exact description of the offense, as defined by the statute, must be critically set forth, and the application of this rule to the counts of this indictment, would require that the man Glover should have been described as a person owing service or labor in some State or Territory. By no principle of law can we infer, from the words used in these counts, that Glover owed service or labor—on the contrary, we are bound to suppose that Joshua Glover was equally as free as any other person. If he had been in the custody of the officer, for the violation of some other law of Congress than the Act of 1850, the aiding him to escape would not be an offense within that Act. But from the legitimate averments of these counts, I cannot find a description of any offense for which Glover was in custody—and the gravamen of the charge is merely, that the relator aided Glover to escape from the custody of the deputy-marshal Cotton, which custody was by virtue of process.

The twenty-second section of an Act of Congress aproved April 30th, 1790, defines the offense of resisting or obstructing officers of the United States in the serving of process. The language of that Act is "obstruct, resist, or oppose, any officer of the United States in serving or attempting to serve or execute any mesne process or warrants, or any rule or order of any of the Courts of the United States," &c.

The distinction in my judgment, between the ingredients of the offense of obstructing and hindering an officer in the service of process under the Act of 1790, and the offense of aiding, abetting and assisting a person in legal custody to escape therefrom, (if the latter be really declared to be an offense,) consists in this, that in the former some active interference of the person charged is necessarily involved, while in the latter the end or object may be attained—the aid and assistance afforded, without any connection with or hindrance of the officer or his process. A person in passing beneath the window of a room in which a prisoner is confined, in custody of the Marshal, might cast a key through the open bars or casement, and thereby enable the captive to withdraw the bolts of his prison and escape, but although this wo'd be a grave offense, I apprehend it could not bring the offender within the Act of 1790. It would be an aiding and abetting in an escape, but it could hardly be deemed an obstructing or hindering the officer in the service or execution of process.

The indictment preferred against the relator, however, contained one count (the first) which charged an offense within the jurisdiction of the District Court, and the question whether, inasmuch as that Court had jurisdiction to try the offense charged in the first count, in the indictment it did not thereby acquire a control of the whole case and preclude any inquiry into its power here has engaged my attention.

I am not, upon this writ of habeas corpus, inquiring into a mere question of criminal pleadings—the enquiry is one affecting the jurisdiction and power of the Court, which entertained the indictment before us, and proceeded to verdict and judgment thereon.

I am entirely satisfied, that if the jury had returned a general verdict of guilty on this indictment, the interference of this court with the sentence of the District Court of the United States would have been wholly unwarrantable; because, in that case, there would have been a conviction for an offence within the power of the District Court to try, determine and punish. But the record which constitutes the mittimus before us, shows that the indictment upon which this relator was tried contains one count for an offence within the jurisdiction of the court which tried him, and two counts presenting no crime for which a person could be tried in that court. Upon the first count there has been no conviction, and consequently there can be no punishment; so that the sentence and imprisonment of which the relator now complains, must be for an alleged offence beyond the control or cognizance of the court which imposed that sentence.

If, in the District Court, an indictment were presented, some of the counts of which charged a violation of the revenue laws of the United States, and other counts charged libel, or assault and battery, and upon trial a conviction were obtained on the counts charging libel, or assault and battery, would an imprisonment on such a conviction, where the charge of violating the United States revenue laws had not been sustained by the verdict, be beyond the inquiry of this court?

Would the conviction and sentence in such a case, be the "final judgment" of a court of competent criminal jurisdiction of the offence of which the party was convicted, or would the imprisonment consequent on such a sentence be "by virtue of process issued by any court or judge of the United States, in a case where such court or judge has exclusive jurisdiction?" I cannot think so.

Whenever, in a case like the present one, a writ of habeas corpus issues, directed to a federal officer, and he makes a proper return setting forth the cause or process by which the party is restrained of his liberty or confined, I conceive it to be the duty and within the legitimate power of this court, or the officer before whom the writ is made returnable, to examine as well the process by which, as the cause for which, the party is restrained or imprisoned. If the process be such as might be issued by the tribunal or officer who issued it and the cause or matter in which the proceedings were taken, be within the authority or power or jurisdiction of the court or officer, then there is a plain duty imposed upon the court or officer who issued the writ of habeas corpus, to remand the party; but if on the contrary, the process or warrant for the imprisonment be unauthorized or the subject matter upon which the party has been deprived of his liberty, be not within the authority or cognizance of the court or officer who has assumed to act, then it is equally incumbent on us to discharge the party.

The Constitution of this State, (art 1, sec. 8) secures to every person within the State the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, and the use of that writ is adapted to all cases of illegal restraint or confinement. The Justices of this Court as well as judicial officers of the State, who are vested with the power of awarding this writ, would be recreant to the duty imposed upon them, and to the trust reposed in them by the people, if in any case of illegal restraint in which they have power to act, they hesitated to perform the requirements of the Constitution and laws of the State, by using this writ as a means to see that no person within the boundaries of this State shall be deprived of his personal liberty without the authority of law. If this were not so the utility of the writ of habeas corpus would not only be greatly invaded, but in many instances it would become a name without a substance. It is idle to say that the use of the writ to this extent may be productive of dangerous consequences, or result in any serious collision between the Federal and the State officers. So long as the functionaries of these respective powers are true to the obligation and duties imposed upon them—so long as they are careful not to transcend the limits and scope prescribed to them, there is no danger to be apprehended. If either, indeed, should assume to act in derogation of the prerogative of the other, a means of correcting the evil would be very necessary, but we are not without that corrective. An unwarrantable infraction of the jurisdiction of the State tribunals by the Federal Courts, would call forth an assertion of their prerogatives and power by the State Courts, and if in this the latter were wrong, a peaceful means of redress is afforded by a resort to the Court of dernier resort, the Supreme Court of the United States, whose decisions should and would be acquiesced in by all parties.

Viewing this case as it is presented by the return, I am of the opinion, that the relator is entitled to be discharged from the custody of the Sheriff of Milwaukee County, inasmuch as the record of conviction and sentence from the District Court of the United States for this District, by which his imprisonment is sought to be justified, presents no conviction and sentence of an offence which that Court had jurisdiction over.

On the argument of this case the Counsel for the relator insisted upon a distinct ground for the discharge.

It was that the act of Sept 18th, 1850, was entirely unconstitutional and void. A correct understanding of the views of that question, taken and expressed by the several members of this court at the last term, would perhaps have rendered it unnecessary to urge this point in the present case. I need only remark that upon this question we each entertain the opinion then expressed.

The case of Sherman M. Booth, which was argued and considered in connection with this case, is substantially disposed of in the foregoing opinion. The defect of jurisdiction in the U. S. District Court is equally patent in his case, and therefore I believe he is entitled to be released from imprisonment.

USE THE Magic Impression Paper!
For Writing without Pen or Ink, Copying Leaves, Plants, Flowers, Pictures, Patterns for Embroideries, Marking Linen indelibly, and
MANIFOLD WRITING.

THIS ARTICLE IS ABSOLUTELY THE BEST PORTABLE Inkstand in the known world, for a small quantity folded and placed in the pocket constitutes a traveling inkstand which cannot be broken. No pen is needed, for any stick sharpened to a point, writes equally as well as the best gold pen in the universe. For drawing it is indispensable. It is, indeed, the whole art of Drawing and Painting—taught in ONE LESSON. Any leaf, plant or flower can be transferred to the pages of an album with a minute and distinct resemblance of nature. With equal facility, pictures and embroidery patterns are taken, and have received the highest eulogiums from the fair sex; and, indeed, a more tasteful present for a lady could not be produced.

This Magic Paper will also mark Linen, or other articles, so as to remain perfectly indelible. All the washing in the world fails to bring it out. Any child can use it with perfect ease. With this Magic Paper, likewise, one or four copies of every letter written can be secured without any additional labor whatever, making it the cheapest article extant. It is used to great advantage by reporters of the public press, telegraphic operators and hosts of others.

Each package contains four different colors—Black, Blue, Green, and Red, with full and printed Instructions, for ALL to use, and will last sufficiently long to obtain Five Hundred distinct Impressions.

It is put up in beautifully enamelled, colored envelopes, with a truthful likeness of the Proprietor attached. Each and every package warranted.

PRICE—$2 a Dozen; or, Five for One Dollar. Single Packages, 25 Cents. Address, post-paid,

THE UNDERSIGNED WOULD RESPECTFULLY announce to the Public, that he has opened, on Spring Street, Opposite the American House,
A NEW
PIANO FORTE WARE-ROOM!
Where he will keep on hand a good assortment of the celebrated
AMERICAN ACTION PIANO FORTES,
Manufactured by GEORGE HEWS, of Boston, Mass.

The Patent American Action Piano Forte is distinguished for its great fullness, richness and sweetness of tone, evenness of scale, and delicacy of touch. The improvement in the Action renders it less liable to derangement, and also greatly facilitates execution. Numerous medals, diplomas and certificates have been received from various fairs and industrial exhibitions in different cities of the Union, from the World's Fair at London, and flattering testimonials from the profession, residents at Boston, and elsewhere, among which are the following:

From the Illustrious Pianist, L. M. GOTTSCHALK, to Mr HEWS, Agent at New York:

NEW YORK, Dec. 5, 1844.

MR. N. J. CURTISS:—

Dear Sir, Having had the pleasure of performing upon Geo Hews' American Action Piano at the World's Fair in this city the present year and other of his Pianos at your Wareroom, which afforded me much gratification, I cheerfully recommend them to the public. I am very glad of the improvement in the action. These instruments likewise are of excellent tone, owing, no doubt, to the perfection of the scales.

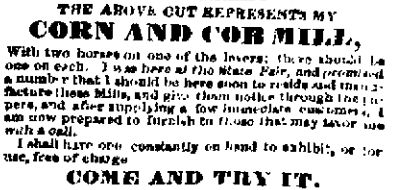
Very Respectfully, L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

From the distinguished Pianist, WILLIAM MASON:

MR. HEWS:—Having repeatedly played upon the Piano Fortes manufactured by you, with the American Action, I am free to acknowledge, that for certainty and elasticity of action, power, purity and equality of tone, I have never seen them surpassed in the square Piano Forte.

WILLIAM MASON.

Purchasers and lovers of music in general, are respectfully invited to call and examine these instruments. These Pianos will be sold at Boston prices, and warranted to give satisfaction in every respect.
☞ Pianos to Let. Old Pianos taken in exchange, and liberal prices allowed.
☞ Pianos Tuned and Repaired.
nov21 F. C. MENDE.



THE ABOVE CUT REPRESENTS MY
CORN AND COB MILL,
With two horses on one of the levers; there should be one on each. I was here at the State Fair, and promised a number that I should be here soon to reside and manufacture these Mills, and give them notice through the papers, and after supplying a few immediate customers, I am now prepared to furnish to those that may favor me with a call.

I shall have one constantly on hand to exhibit, or for use, free of charge.

COME AND TRY IT.

Warranted to be durable, and will keep them in repair free of charge.

The Mill weighs about four hundred pounds. I furnish the Mill, Hopper, bolts, all except the box and poles, and those will not cost to exceed five dollars, with directions in full.

Two Good Horses will grind from 8 to 10 bushels Corn Cob per hour, fine enough for feed; and 4 bushels of Shelled Corn, or with a mixture of Oats, in the same time with one horse.

I am manufacturing at
M. M. Stone's Threshing Machine Manufactory,
WALKER'S POINT.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

A GOOD FARM of 160 Acres, twenty miles on Kilbourn Road, will be exchanged for City Property. The Farm is enclosed; also, the stock, consisting of two yoke of Oxen, twenty Cows, Hogs, &c., with Farming Mills, and all Farming utensils. The soil is very rich, in a good settlement. The reason why the owner disposes of it, he is a resident of our city, and has not time to give his attention to it. A good opportunity now offers.

COOK STOVE,
I have sold the B. J. for the past three years. It has been thoroughly tested by thousands who will testify that it is the most complete Cook Stove that can be. I have four sizes of B. J. There is a summer attachment to the stove which will make half difference less of the amount of fuel used in the Summer season and does away with all unnecessary heat which other stoves make that have not the attachment. The oven is much larger than any other stove of the same size furniture. I warrant the stove to give complete satisfaction, if not, to be returned and money refunded. FireKing Safe, again Triumphant.

$1,000 will be paid, if reliable evidence is shown where they ever failed to protect valuable from Fire, where as other makers' Safes have proved worthless in various accidental and experimental tests, some of which occurred recently.
Read the following from Messrs. A. McClure & Co., wholesale and extensive dealers in Drugs, Medicines, &c.
ALBANY, July 27, 1852.
This is to certify, that on the 23d day of July, 1852, our entire stock, composed of Turpentine, Alcohol, Oil, Patent Medicines, &c., was consumed by fire; so rapid and so severe was the fire that we were unable to close one safe until Mr. Pohlman subsequently entered at the peril of his life and closed the doors.
After forcing the safe open after all this exposure and fire, which made us so careful for the safety of its contents, its valuables were found uninjured.
We have so much confidence in the security of the Fire King, that we shall have it immediately replaced.
A. McCLURE & CO.
ALBANY, Dec. 19, 1852.
This is to certify, that on the 7th day of May, 1851, I purchased of J. McB. Davidson, No. 7, single flange safe, and that the same was subjected to a severe test on the 18th of December, 1851. After the fire was extinguished, its contents (books and papers,) were examined, and found to be perfectly preserved—not a leaf of my books being scorched.
P. J. CLAASSEN,
Importer of Wines, Cigars, &c., Broadway, Albany.
After an examination of P. J. Claassen's Safe and papers, we are convinced of the superiority of Davidson's Safes over all others.

J. McB. DAVIDSON'S FIRE KING SAFE—Fire Proof, and free from Dampness.
W. A. NEEF, Agent, Chicago.
This safe received the highest premium—a silver medal at the Fair of the New York State Agricultural Society which was held at Albany, September 1850. Also a medal and diploma for the best burglar and fire proof safe at the same Fair held at Utica, for 1852.
Raymond, Ward & Co. will receive orders for ... Fire and Thief Proof Bank and Vault Doors. dol8
This is to certify that on the 25th of September last we purchased of H. D. Rice Esq., one of Mr. J. McB. Davidson's Fire Kings (No 4 Single flange), that on the 14th of November past it was subjected to a very severe test in the burning of our warehouse, in which was stored a large quantity of whisky and other combustible materials. On opening the safe we found all our papers, consisting notes letters and receipts, perfect and entirely legible.

PATENT MEDICINES.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT
THIS EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IS STILL working wonders throughout the World—eradicating everything in the form of disease that comes within the circle of its influence.
The People Themselves
have long since adopted it as the only external remedy they could rely upon, and the indisputable testimony of thousands is fast sweeping away
The Prejudices of the Faculty.
It is extensively used by the Ladies,
It is used by Mechanics and Laboring men,
It is used in families and factories,
It is used expressly by all Express Companies,
It is used by Farmers and Livery stable keepers,
It is used by everybody, and all speak in its praise,
Where it is used, pain cannot exist,
The benumbed limbs are made elastic,
The deep ulcers and frightful sores are healed,
The unstrung nerves are made to vibrate with joy.
Use the Mustang Liniment
is the spontaneous advice of all.
It has cured more cases of
Rheumatism
than any other medicine ever used. Its efficacy in this terrible disease is acknowledged by all who have used it. It not only cures the complaint, but appears to give vigor and elasticity to the limbs, before unknown—thus performing a double office.
For contractions of the limbs, stiffness of the joints and muscles, hard lumps swellings and inflammation, it is unrivalled in the power and efficacy of its operations.
For Bruises, Sprains, Cuts, Scalds and Burns, but a few applications are necessary in order to effect a total cure.
Cancer, or Scrofulous Sores, Tetter, Ringworms, Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Erysipelas, Boils, and Eruptions, can generally be removed in a few days—and the worst cases can be cured in a few weeks at the farthest. Persons afflicted with these diseases, should be careful in getting the right article to cure them.
Use it upon Your Horse,
for spavin, splint, ring bone, fistula, wind galls, big heads, bruises, strains, string halt, scratches, cracked heels, sweeney, saddle, collar, or harness galls, hard lumps or tumors film or other diseases of the eye, poll evil, &c.
The finest horses in the city of New York will be found in the stables of the various Express Companies—and they all use
The Mustang Liniment,
totally discarding all other preparations of the kind, and have all given their certificate in its favor.
This we presume will be a sufficient guarantee to induce every one who owns a horse, to give the Mustang a trial.
THERE is no Druggist or Country Store keeper
Who pretends to keep medicine at all,
But what keeps a constant supply of the Mexican Mustang Liniment.
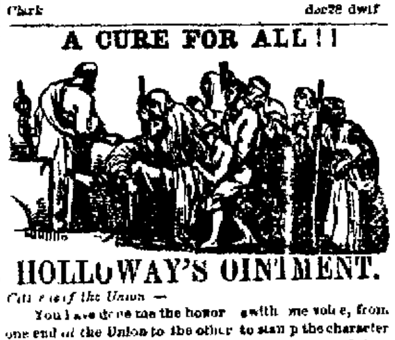
The small size retail for 25 cents per bottle,
The medium sized retail for 50 cents per bottle,
The large size retail for one dollar per bottle,
The medium hold three times as much as the small
The large holds nearly three times as much as the medium,
Therefore the largest bottles are the cheapest.
GEO. W. WESTBROOK
(successor to A. G. Bragg & Co.)
Originator and Sole Proprietor.
Principal Offices, 304 Broadway, New York, and corner of Third and Market Sts., St. Louis, Mo.
☞ THE MUSTANG LINIMENT is sold at all of the Drug Stores in Milwaukee, and by storekeepers and druggists generally all over the state of Wisconsin. Principal Wholesale Agents in Milwaukee—Lake & Hopkins, Seth Johnson, Jr., Bosworth & Son, H. Fess Jr., and A. F. Clark. dec28 dwtf

A CURE FOR ALL!!



HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
Citizens of the Union—
You have done me the honor with one voice, from one end of the Union to the other to stamp the character of my Ointment with your approbation. It is scarcely two years since I made it known among you, and already, it has obtained more celebrity than any other Medicine in so short a period.
THOMAS HOLLOWAY,
38, Corner of Ann and Nassau Street, New York.
CURE OF SORE LEGS, AFTER 9 YEARS STANDING.
Mr W. J. Langley, of Huntsville, Yadkin, North Carolina, suffered for nine years with one of the most painful and troublesome sore legs that ever fell to the lot of man, and after trying every medicine he had ever heard of, he resigned in despair all hope of being cured, but a friend brought him a couple of Pots of Holloway's Ointment, which caused the sores on his legs to heal and he entirely regained his health, to the astonishment of his acquaintances and friends.
CURE OF A BAD BREAST, WHEN THE PATIENT WAS AT DEATH'S DOOR.
Mr. R. DURANT of New Orleans, addressed Professor HOLLOWAY as follows:—For 7 years my wife had a bad breast, with ten running wounds, (out of a cancerous nature,) I was told that nothing could save her, she was then induced to use your Ointment and Pills, when in the short space of three months, they effected a perfect cure, to the astonishment of all who knew us. We obtained your Medicines from Messrs. Wright & Co., of Chartres st., New Orleans. I send this from "Hotel de Princes," Paris, although I had written it at New Orleans, before we finally left, not knowing your address at New York.
Nov 9th 1853 (Signed) R. DURANT.
The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases:—

Bad Legs	Contracted and	Lumbago	Sore throat
Bad Breasts	Stiff Joints	Piles	Skin diseases
Burns	Fistulas	Rheumatism	Scurvy
Bunions	Gout	Salt Rheum	Sore heads
Chilblains	Glandular-	Scalds	Ulcers
Chapped hands	swellings	Sore nipples	Wounds.

⁂ Sold at the establishment of Professor HOLLOWAY, 38, Corner of Ann and Nassau Streets, New York, also by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicines throughout the United states, in Pots, at 37½ cents, 87 cents, and $1 50 cents each. To be had Wholesale of the principal Drug Houses in the Union.
☞ There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Pot.

PATENT MEDICINES

MEDICATED INHALATION
A NEW METHOD.
A MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. CURTIS, for the cure of Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and all Lung Complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr. CURTIS'S HYGEANA, or INHALING HYGEAN VAPOR and CHERRY SYRUP, has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma and Consumption in the City of New York and vicinity for a few months past, ever known to man.—It is producing an impression on Diseases of the Lungs never before witnessed by the medical profession. [See certificates in hands of Agents.]
The Inhaler is worn on the breast, under the linen, without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid,—supplying the lungs constantly with a healing and agreeable vapor, passing into all the air cells and passages of the lungs that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine. Here is a case of
ASTHMA CURED.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 20th, 1853.
For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing, and my sufferings, were so great at times, that for hours together my friends expected each hour would be my last. During the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffering for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the Inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup, I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is,—TRY IT.
CONSUMPTION CURED.
NEW YORK, Dec 27th, 1853.
I came to New York in the ship Telegraph; my native place is St. John, New Brunswick; when I reached this city, my health was very poor; had a very bad cough, raised a great deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, had pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physician pronounced my case Consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe was the means of saving my life.—Soon after wearing the Inhaler, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better, until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it.

MEDICATED INHALATION!
CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, AS TREATED BY
DR. E. N. TRIST,
WITH HIS CELEBRATED
HYGEN & OXYGENIC VAPOR!

DR. TRIST, Graduate of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, and the recipient of diplomas from the Lung Institution of Edinburgh and Hotel des Invalides of Paris, having settled permanently in New York for the practice of his profession, begs leave to suggest to the citizens of the United States that several years of study and successful experiments in England and Scotland as well as other parts of Europe, with Consumption in all its forms, enable him to warrant not only relief, but a complete cure to all those suffering with this great national disease.
Dr. TRIST deems it unprofessional to advertise; but others having represented themselves as the originators of the Inhalation Treatment, he would say to the afflicted that he alone is entitled to its first introduction and would caution all against using the useless and dangerous compounds advertised by incompetent persons.
"Take up thy bed and walk."
Dr. TRIST would say to those interested that he has had manufactured, for the use of his patrons, his "Patent Inhaling Tubes," through which the vapor is conveyed to the parts affected, and which he earnestly commends for the cheering results which have attended their use, and the fact that they may be used by the most feeble invalid without any unpleasant symptoms.
To those residing out of the city Dr. Trist will forward one of the Inhaling Tubes, together with a package of the Vapor, sufficient to last for three months, accompanied with ample directions for use, on receipt of a letter containing Ten Dollars, and describing symptoms.
A cure is warranted in all stages of Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma and all other affections of the Throat, Lungs, and Air Passages. In case of failure, the money will be returned.
Address (post paid) DR. E. N. TRIST, 68 Grand st., New York City. dec21 dcmar1'55

HIGHLY IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.
To the Afflicted Everywhere,
DR. A. L. ADAMS' LIVER BALSAM
COMES GREETING!
DR. A. L. ADAMS' NEW CURE FOR DISEASE is awakening the inquiry in the minds of all who read it. How is it that Americans have been so long and so lavishly immured in darkness and ignorance on the subject of disease.
DR. A. L. ADAMS' LIVER BALSAM.
The great Panacea of Disease is offered to the afflicted of the States and Territories for the entire cure of Liver Complaints in all stages, Billious Fever, Ague and Fever, Chronic Lung Fever, Dropsical Affections, Coughs, Consumption, Asthma, Jaundice, Bowel Complaints, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Dyspepsia, General Debility, Nervousness, Costiveness, Indigestion, Female Complaints, &c.
Dr. A. L. Adams' Liver Balsam now sustains the highest reputation of any remedy before the public and has proved to the most skeptical, beyond a shadow of doubt that it is the only reliable medicine ever discovered! (being purely vegetable) for the permanent cure of the above disease. The most skeptical have become its most sanguine votaries, and I pronounce the Liver Balsam to be the only reliable harbinger of health to the afflicted everywhere.
Testimonials come up from every track it has made, swollen with expressions of gratitude for the relief received by its use. And, in submitting this, the Liver Balsam is recommended to those suffering under the iron grasp of the monster disease, and at once procure one bottle of Dr. A. L. Adams' Liver Balsam.
The reader's attention is called to the perusal of the Medical Circular, which can be obtained of every agent throughout the United States, giving a clear epitome of the causes and cure of disease, also, of certificates of those who have tested its unparalleled ascendancy over the diseases to which we are all subject.
G. E. Scott, General Agent, No. 67 Randolph st., Chicago, Ill., to whom all orders must be addressed to receive prompt attention. Sold by

A. B. NEWKIRK, M. D.,

Oculist and Ophthalmic Surgeon,
No 17 Metropolitan Buildings, La Salle Street,
TENDERS his professional services to all those who are afflicted with any of the various diseases to which the Eye is subject. He will operate in the most approved manner for CATARACT, STRABISMUS, (Cross Eye,) or any other condition of that organ requiring surgical aid. He will also adjust ARTIFICIAL EYES, for those who wish them, in a manner so as to cause no inconvenience to the wearer, which shall be perfectly natural in appearance, and will move in harmony with the natural eye. Dr. N. flatters himself that his long and well directed clinical experience—the advantage afforded him while connected with the New York Eye Infirmary, (the largest institution of the kind in the United States,) and also his hitherto successful treatment of the many cases to which his attention has been called while in this city, enables him to warrant entire satisfaction to all who may avail themselves of his professional services.

I have sold the B. J. for the past three years. It has been thoroughly tested by thousands who will testify that it is the most complete Cook Stove that can be. I have four sizes of B. J. There is a summer attachment to the stove which will make half difference less of the amount of fuel used in the Summer season and does away with all unnecessary heat which other stoves make that have not the attachment. The oven is much larger than any other stove of the same size furniture. I warrant the stove to give complete satisfaction, if not, to be returned and money refunded. I will refer you to hundreds of the citizens of Milwaukee that are using the Stove.

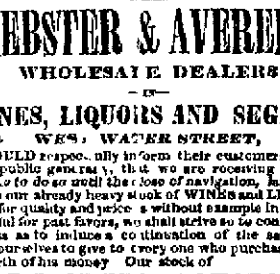
Fire King Safe, again Triumphant.



$1,000 will be paid, if reliable evidence is shown where they ever failed to protect valuable from Fire, where as other makers' safes have proved worthless in various accidental and experimental tests, some of which occurred recently.
Read the following from Messrs. A. McClure & Co., wholesale and extensive dealers in Drugs, Medicines, &c.
ALBANY, July 27, 1853
This is to certify, that on the 23d day of July, 1852, our entire stock, composed of Turpentine, Alcohol, Oil, Patent Medicines, &c., was consumed by fire; so rapid and so severe was the fire that we were unable to close one safe until Mr. Pohlman subsequently entered at the peril of his life and closed the doors.
After forcing the safe open after all this exposure and fire, which made us uncertain for the safety of its contents, its valuables were found uninjured.
We have so much confidence in the security of the Fire King, that we shall have it immediately replaced.
A. McCLURE & CO.
ALBANY, Dec 19, 1852.
This is to certify, that on the 7th day of May, 1851, I purchased of J. McB. Davidson, No. 7, single flange Safe, and that the same was subjected to a severe test on the 18th of December, 1851. After the fire was extinguished, its contents (books and papers,) were examined, and found to be perfectly preserved—it was safe of my books being scorched.
P. J. CLAASSEN,
Importer of Wines, Cigars, &c., Broadway, Albany
After an examination of P. J. Claassen's Safe and papers, we are convinced of the superiority of Davidson's Safes over all others.

Raymond, Ward & Co. will receive orders for [illegible] Fire and Thief Proof Bank and Vault Doors. dels
This is to certify that on the 25th of September last we purchased of H. D. Rice Esq., one of Mr. J. McB. Davidson's Fire King [illegible] Single Flange,) that on the 14th of November past it was subjected to a very severe test in the burning of our warehouse, in which was stored a large quantity of whisky and other combustible materials. On opening the safe we found all our papers, consisting notes letters and receipts, perfect and entirely legible.

PATENT MEDICINES.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT

THIS EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IS STILL working wonders throughout the World—eradicating everything in the form of disease that comes within the circle of its influence.

The People Themselves

have long since adopted it as the only external remedy they could rely upon, and the indisputable testimony of thousands is fast sweeping away

The Prejudices of the Faculty.

It is extensively used by the Ladies,
It is used by Mechanics and Laboring men.
It is used in families and factories,
It is used expressly by all Express Companies,
It is used by Farmers and Livery stable keepers,
It is used by everybody, and all speak in its praise,
Where it is used, pain cannot exist,
The benumbed limbs are made elastic,
The deep ulcers and frightful sores are healed,
The unstrung nerves are made to vibrate with joy.

Use the Mustang Liniment

is the spontaneous advice of all.
It has cured more cases of

than any other medicine ever used. Its efficacy in this terrible disease is acknowledged by all who have used it. It not only cures the complaint, but appears to give vigor and elasticity to the limbs, before unknown—has performs a double office.
For contractions of the limbs, stiffness of the joints and muscles, hard lumps, swellings and inflammation, it is unrivaled in the power and efficacy of its operations.
For Bruises, Sprains, Cuts, Scalds and Burns, but a few applications are necessary in order to effect a total cure.

Cancer, or Scrofulous Sores, Tetter, Ringworms, Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Erysipelas, Boils, and Eruptions, can generally be removed in a few days—and the worst cases can be cured in a few weeks at the farthest. For sons afflicted with these diseases, should be careful in getting the right article to cure them.

Use it upon Your Horse,

for spavin, splint, ring bone, fistula, wind galls, big heads, bruises, strains, string halt, scratches, cracked heels, sweeney, saddle, collar, or harness galls, hard lump or tumors film or other diseases of the eye, poll evil, &c.
The finest horses in the city of New York will be found in the stables of the various Express Companies—and they all use totally discarding all other preparations of the kind, and have all given their certificate to that effect.

This we presume will be a sufficient guarantee to induce every one who owns a horse, to give the Mustang a trial.
THERE is no Druggist or Country Store keeper
Who pretends to keep medicine at all,
But what keeps a constant supply of the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

The small size retail for 25 cents per bottle,
The medium sized retail for 50 cents per bottle,
The large size retail for one dollar per bottle,
The medium hold three times as much as the small
The large holds nearly three times as much as the medium,
Therefore the largest bottles are the cheapest.

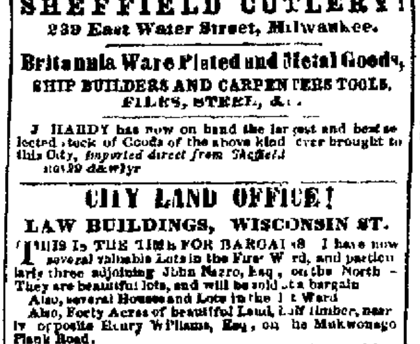
THE MUSTANG LINIMENT is sold at all of the Drug Stores in Milwaukee, and by storekeepers and druggists generally all over the State of Wisconsin. Principal Wholesale Agents in Milwaukee—Lake & Hopkins, Seth Johnson, Jr., Bosworth & Son, H. Fess Jr., and A. F. Clark dec22 dwtf

A CURE FOR ALL!!



HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Citizens of the Union —
You have done me the honor with one voice, from one end of the Union to the other to stamp the character of my Ointment with your approbation. It is scarcely two years since I made it known among you, and already, it has obtained more celebrity than any other Medicine in so short a period. THOMAS HOLLOWAY,
38, Corner of Ann and Nassau Streets, New York

CURE OF SORE LEGS, AFTER 9 YEARS STANDING
Mr. W. J. Langley, of Huntsville, Yadkin, North Carolina, suffered for nine years with one of the most painful and troublesome sore legs that ever fell to the lot of man, and after trying every medicine he had ever heard of, he resigned in despair all hope of being cured, but a friend brought him a couple of Pots of Holloway's Ointment, which caused the sores on his legs to heal and be entirely regained his health, to the astonishment of his acquaintances and friends.

CURE OF A BAD BREAST, WHEN THE PATIENT WAS AT DEATH'S DOOR
Mr. R. DURANT of New Orleans, addressed Professor Holloway as follows:—For 7 years my wife had a bad breast, with ten running wounds, (not of a cancerous nature,) I was told that nothing could save her, she was then induced to use your Ointment and Pills, which in the short space of three months, they effected a perfect cure, to the astonishment of all who knew us. We obtained your Medicines from Messrs. Wright & Co., of Chartres st., New Orleans. I send this from "Hotel des Princes," Paris, although I had written it at New Orleans, before we finally left, not knowing your address at New York.
Nov. 9th, 1853 (Signed) R. DURANT

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases:—

Bad Legs	Contracted and	Lumbago	Sore throat
Bad Breasts	Stiff Joints	Piles	Skin diseases
Burns	Fistulas	Rheumatism	Scurvy
Bunions	Gout	Salt Rheum	Sore heads
Chilblains	Glandular	Scalds	Ulcers
Chapped hands	swellings	Sore nipples	Wounds.

 Sold at the establishment of Professor HOLLOWAY, 38, Corner of Ann and Nassau Streets, New York, also by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in medicines throughout the United States, in Pots, at 37½ cents, 87 cents, and $1 50 cents each. To be had Wholesale of the principal Drug Houses in the Union.
There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
N. B. Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Pot.

PATENT MEDICINES

MEDICATED INHALATION

A NEW METHOD.

A MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. CURTIS, for the cure of Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr. CURTIS'S HYGEANA, or INHALING HYGEAN VAPOR and CHERRY SYRUP, has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma and Consumption in the City of New York and vicinity for a few months past, ever known to man.—It is producing an impression on Diseases of the Lungs never before witnessed by the medical profession. (See certificates in hands of Agents.)
The Inhaler is worn on the breast, under the linen, without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid,—supplying the lungs constantly with a healing and agreeable vapor, passing into all the air cells and passages of the lungs that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine. Here is a case of

ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 28th, 1852
For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing, and my sufferings, were so great at times, that for hours together my friends expected each hour would be my last. During the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffering for want of breath. In less than ten minutes from the time I applied the Inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup, I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is,—TRY IT.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

NEW YORK, Dec 27th, 1852.
I came to New York in the ship Telegraph; my native place is St. John, New Brunswick; when I reached this city, my health was very poor; had a very bad cough, raised a great deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, had pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physician pronounced my case Consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better, until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it. JOHN WOOD.
Sold by BOYD & PAUL, No. 40 Cortlandt street, C. H. RING, corner of John street and Broadway, N. Y. Price $3 a package.
N. B.—Any person inclosing $3 to BOYD & PAUL, or CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, will receive a package containing a bottle of Hygean Vapor, one of Cherry Syrup, and an Inhaler, in a neat box, by express, free to any part of the United States; or four packages for $10. feb2 1yd&w

MEDICATED INHALATION!

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, AS TREATED BY
DR. E. N. TRIST,
HYGEN & OXYGENIC VAPOR!

DR. TRIST, Graduate of the Royal College of Surgeons in London and the recipient of diplomas from the Lung Institution of Edinburgh and Hotel des Invalides of Paris, having settled permanently in New York for the practice of his profession, begs leave to suggest to the citizens of the United States that several years of study and successful experiments in England and Scotland as well as other parts of Europe, with Consumption in all its forms, enable him to warrant not only relief, but a complete cure to all those suffering with this great national disease.
Dr. TRIST deems it unprofessional to advertise; but others having represented themselves as the originators of the Inhalation Treatment, he would say to the afflicted that he alone is entitled to that introduction and would caution all against using the useless and dangerous compounds advertised by incompetent persons.
"Take up thy bed and walk."
Dr. TRIST would say to those interested that he has had manufactured, for the use of his patrons, his "Patent Inhaling Tubes," through which the vapor is conveyed to the parts affected, and which he earnestly commends for the cheering results which have attended their use, and the fact that they may be used by the most feeble in valid without any unpleasant symptoms.
To those residing out of the city Dr. Trist will forward one of the Inhaling Tubes, together with a package of the Vapor, sufficient to last for three months, accompanied with ample directions for use, on receipt of a letter containing Ten Dollars, and describing symptoms.
A cure is warranted in all stages of Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma and all other affections of the Throat, Lungs, and Air Passages. In case of failure, the money will be returned.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Afflicted Everywhere,
DR. A. L. ADAMS' LIVER BALSAM COMES GREETING!

DR. A. L. ADAMS' NEW CURE FOR DISEASE is awakening the inquiry in the minds of all who read it. How is it that Americans have been so long and so lavishly immured in darkness and ignorance on the subject of disease.

DR. A. L. ADAMS' LIVER BALSAM.

The great Panacea of Disease is offered to the afflicted of the States and Territories for the entire cure of Liver Complaints in all stages, Bilious Fever, Ague and Fever, Chronic Lung Fever, Dropsical Affections, Coughs, Consumption, Asthma, Jaundice, Bowel Complaints, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Dyspepsia, General Debility, Nervousness, Costiveness, Indigestion, Female Complaints, &c.
Dr. A. L. Adams' Liver Balsam now sustains the highest reputation of any remedy before the public and has proved to the most skeptical, beyond a shadow of doubt that it is the only reliable medicine ever discovered! (being purely vegetable) for the permanent cure of the above disease. The most skeptical have become its most sanguine votaries, and pronounce the Liver Balsam to be the only reliable harbinger of health to the afflicted everywhere.
Testimonials come up from every track it has made, swollen with expressions of gratitude for the relief received by its use. And, in submitting this, the Liver Balsam is recommended to those suffering under the iron grasp of the monster disease, and at once procure one bottle of Dr. A. L. Adams' Liver Balsam.
The reader's attention is called to the perusal of the Medical Circular, which can be obtained of every agent throughout the United States, giving a clear epitome of the causes and cure of disease, also, of certificates of those who have tested its unparalleled ascendancy over the diseases to which we are all subject.
